Senate Agenda 5/28
Associated Students UCSB 76th Senate

Zoom Link

Minutes/Actions recorded by: Liliana Dritz, Melina Magno, Hazel Gong, Sydney Arbolado
CALL TO ORDER by Enri Lala, Internal Vice President at 6:57 PM.
This meeting was called to order at 6:57PM in the Flying A. Room by Internal Vice President Lala.

A) MEETING BUSINESS

"Before we begin, we call for students to acknowledge that the lands that the University of California locations were built upon were expropriated & founded upon exclusions and erasures of Indigenous people's human rights throughout California. UCSB is built on Chumash Land, specifically that of the non-federally recognized Barbareno tribe. As an association that pushes the student bodies' voices to the forefront, we should aim to make strides past just acknowledgment to those who continue to fight for their right to be recognized & respected as the original stewards of this land. I ask you all to dedicate time & care to personal education & to advocate for justice alongside Indigenous peoples."

A Resolution Commending Senator MingJun Zha's Contributions and Dedication to ...

Luken
- I would like to invite up student sponrosrs to the resolution

Carlson
- Today we bring before you a resolution recognizing MingJunzha's recognition to UCSB
- Whereas, MingJun Zha has had a long and colorful history in Associated Students. MingJun spent the majority of his life in Qingdao of the Shandong Province in China. In 2021, he came to the United States to attend the University of California, Santa Barbara. In his Freshman year, MingJun ran for International Senator and was elected to his first term, dedicating himself to representing the undergraduate students of UCSB.
- Whereas, his service is marked by a selfless dedication to the interests of the International Student community, which make up 13% of the undergraduate student population, while also advocating for both the financial and communal interests of all students, regardless of their citizenship status. As a Senator and Parliamentarian, he specialized in handcrafting standing rules which helped guide the legislative branch in the deliberative and discussion processes. A careful and talented craftsman, MingJun expertly designed these rules to prioritize free speech and respect for his peers.

Iden
- Whereas, as a member of the international community, MingJun was an ardent supporter and member of the Global Gaucho Commission, the only BCU oriented towards the needs of international students. In light of GGC's mission, he authored a resolution that created the first lock-in fee designed to support international student advocacy.
- Whereas, recently, he was approved as the fifth council member of the Judicial Council, the Associated Students' highest judicial body. He stepped down so that he could continue his legislative service on the 75th Senate. MingJun was a member of the 73rd, 74th, and 75th Senate, making him the only known three-term senator in recent history.

Carlson
- Whereas, MingJun championed students' rights to housing; he drafted letters in support of students who were evicted to help them seek rapid rehousing from the University. He championed students' access to their fees; he helped to create multiple lock-in fee resolutions that democratized fee initiatives. He created resolutions seeking to implement Grammarly Premium Subscriptions for undergraduate students to shrink the language barrier that international students face in their studies and day to day lives.

- Whereas, MingJun championed financial continuity and reform, as well as emphasizing the importance of the balance of powers. As the financial future of Associated Students continues to be worked on by each generation of students, MingJun has made his mark. His report on long term financial continuity has led to streamlined processes for the management of money collected under the AS base fee. In creating his report, he sought input from the Executive and Judicial branches, creating a collaborative process that reflected his work ethic: syncretic, team-oriented, and professional. His work has been paramount to the future successes of the Associated Students.

Iden

- Whereas, he demonstrated his commitments to improving campus climate by celebrating the students and staff he worked with. He held staff in high regard and drafted multiple resolutions honoring the commitments and services of staff members who retired in 2024, and he worked closely alongside a group of students seeking to ameliorate campus tensions by passing resolutions that sought to create a climate of equality.
- Whereas, MingJun Zha's prioritization of the student voice is a direct testament of his belief and dedication to UCSB values. He was never one to celebrate himself, his successes, or his achievements, but he was always one of the loudest in the room for celebrating his peers. This is evidenced by his humble and thoughtful approach to creating opportunities for his peers to be recognized for their contributions to the campus community. MingJun demonstrated his skills in the creation of the Outstanding BCU Award, making a procedure to reward student organizations for their positive impacts in the Associated Students.

Carlson

- Whereas, after spending a substantial amount of time over his three terms working in the Association, he worked with a variety of BCUs and felt that those who excelled in their positions deserved to be recognized and rewarded for their contributions to the student body. In Fall Quarter, he worked with the 75th Senate to create this award, which granted honoraria bonuses to outstanding BCUs and their members who truly went above and beyond. During the period in which legislation was discussed on the Senate floor, it went through numerous revisions, each time displaying his care, receptiveness, and dedication toward pursuing the best form the legislation could achieve. During that time, he expressed a desire to leave a lasting change on the student body.
- Whereas, as a Senator, Parliamentarian, and Council Member, MingJun Zha has exemplified the meaning of service, principle, and compassion. His contributions to the Associated Students at the University of California, Santa Barbara deserve to be recognized and commended.

Iden

- I don't wish to speak for you guys, but I hope to pass these clauses.
- NOW, THEREFORE, by virtue of the authority vested in the 76th Senate,

- LET IT BE RESOLVED, Senator MingJun Zha's commitments and contributions to the Associated Students are hereby recognized for their immense magnitude and positive and profound impacts.
- BE IT RESOLVED, the 76th Senate commends Senator MingJun Zha for his steadfastness in his service and his dedication to student leadership.
- BE IT RESOLVED, the 76th Senate, on behalf of the Associated Students at UCSB, extends its deepest gratitude to Senator MingJun Zha for his time, service, and dedication to the Associated Students. He has been a role model for student after student, and has left his mark on everyone he has met.
- BE IT RESOLVED, the 76th Senate wishes Senator MingJun Zha the best on his future endeavors.

Zha

- I tried to get a speech ready, like I have done many times on the senate floor.
- I made honoraria committee earlier, which went from 5 to right before the Senate, so I could not write my speech. I want to talk to you from the bottom of my heart. Every single one of you, you're here because hundreds of students placed their trust in you. You are here to speak for those who do not have a seat at the table. Whenever you feel something, I guarantee you there are hundreds of students who feel the same way. As a senator, it's your job to speak your view, simply, plainly, speak your view. If anyone wants to tread on that, you are fortunate enough to have a great chair hwo will do his best to defend your right to speak as a sentor. I have faced lots of problems: political climate, budget, trust of BCUs. I have all the confidence in each and every one of you that you will get it done. You will create the bridge to move forward, and we will move forward in a better direction. Thank you.

Luken

- I want to make it clear for anyone who did not hear. Yesterday and this morning, 2 weeks from graduating, Mingjun sat and went through everyone in the association's honoraria so we can pass it tonight. We were there till 5:30AM. He was sitting in that room for 8-9 hours. That's the level of commitment he has for this university.

Lala

- It's worth appreciating that imagery for a second. I like to go through old candidate statements. I went through Mingjuns. He was full of vision, it was a different time. Coming out of the Associated Students Main Building at 5:30 this morning, the birds are chirping, the day has just risen, and still 2 weeks from graduation, he still has that same commitment and passion. The same indelutable passion that he had as a freshman when he was first running. He is a rare individual. Thank you.

A Resolution Commending Executive Director Marisela Marquez's, PhD., Service and Commitments to the Associated Students at the University of California, Santa Barbara

Carlson

- Director Marisela Marquez, please approach the podium. Please forgive me as I read out loud. It's a little snippet of some wonderful history that I'd like to present to you all here today, as well as to the members of the audience and staff in attendance.
- I bring to your consideration today a resolution commending Executive Director Marisela Marquez, PhD's service and commitments to the Associated Students at the University of California, Santa Barbara, Dr. Marisela Marquez served in Associated Students as the executive director from her first year position in 2007 to 2008 and worked as a volunteer for kcsb, taught students in the Political Science and Chicano/Chicana studies department, and personally advised countless undergraduate leaders over the course of her tenure.

- Marisela hails from the Borderlands, United States and Mexico, living in both Laredo, Texas and Nova Laredo Tamaulipas, Mexico. She helped translate English to Spanish and vice versa for her family, which positioned her as a teacher and role model for those in our circle of influence.
- This love of education brought her to St Mary's University in San Antonio, Texas, where she earned her Bachelor's in the Arts in English and masters in the arts in political science. Coming to the University of California, Santa Barbara Marisela earned her PhD in Political Science, defending her dissertation titled political tolerance in higher education, identifying the threshold of support for diversity policies.
- Extracurricularly, she served as the University of California Student Association president and President of the Graduate Student Association in 93 and 94 where she used her experience as an advocate for students at UCSB in advancing the demands and needs of the hunger strikers in 1994
- Marisela has always been a champion of college students and of the public education system. At a 1992 UC Regent board meeting, she entered into the public record. A public university of California is the greatest of gifts that each generation of Californians passes on to the next. But every time student fees go up, every time you allow more of the burden to be shifted from the state to the individual, the university loses some of that essential quality. It's public nature
- On and off the campus she has defended public education. As a student leader, she has helped student activists engaged in hunger strikes at UCSB achieve their goals. And at an emotional and highly symbolic ceremony on May 5, 1994 Marisela was pictured celebrating with the hunger strikers found here in this amazing textbook I found, you'll see it right at the back.
- Her role was critical in breaking the fast through victory by hunger strike and skillful negotiation. According to Ralph in 2017 and hunger strike, spectacular speech and the struggle for dignity, Marisela was appointed by the strike Executive Board as the third and final negotiator in a series of negotiations against or with UCSB administrators.
- Later on, she helped establish the nation's first PhD program in Chicano Studies in 2003 working in La Casa de la Raza, House of the People, as President of the Board in 2001 and helped to extend advocacy efforts for students over her entire career
- In 2006 and 2007 Marisela Marquez was selected to be the next Executive Director by a search committee chaired by then President Jared Golschen and Carolyn Buford, taking over for former executive director Dunn days ago and interim director Marilyn Fuchs.
- She jumped head first and reinvigorated and expanded the litany of services that Associated Students provided the undergraduate student body. She completed her first year as the AS exec director in 2007 and 2008 and kept going for 18 years.
- When asked what kept her going, she immediately responded, according to an author, just as the students, the undergraduate students, when one researches

Maricela, they will see a spirit engaged in community service and creating inclusive opportunities for all.

- She has volunteered her time, year over year to develop new opportunities for student involvement. And not only has she been instrumental in optimizing student engagement, but she has been the principal advocate for undergraduate student agency, known colloquially by a few, only few, of her students, as the Marquez doctrine. Her relentless pursuit of student achievement, by students, for students, has been the hallmark of her tenure.
- Marisela blends the artisanary statecraft with the pragmatic nature of student government. Her work to the Associated Students have been vital in advancing the interests and futures of students, both here and away, bringing with her a deep and ritual, rich cultural background, where she pursued action research oriented educational activities for students to engage in professional development through experiential learning.
- Following the pandemic, AS suffered from staffing shortages, Marisela took on the role of advisor all organizations without dedicated staff advisor. This meant advising, sometimes dozens of organizations, advising every branch of government in AS ucsb, we also oversaw the requisition process to ensure careful allocation of student fees, and when the as ran into murky waters related to its tax status early in her tenure, she successfully navigated through the IRS fines and levy penalties into reaffirming the associated students as a nonprofit organization intended for educational purposes, equipped with gifts and tokens of appreciation, such as honoraria, saving the Associated Students hundreds of 1000s of dollars in the process.
- During her 18 years, Marisela has overseen, interacted with and guided 1000s of students. 10s of 1000s of Marisela's hours have been devoted to promoting student agency and during her time, Marisela has assisted in managing a growing annual budget that continues every single day to enhance student lives here at UCSB, her ceaseless positivity and formidable ability to inspire and show students alternative paths to success reflect her personal background, values and her own story.
- Over the course of her career political advocacy, she has helped supervise a diverse team of career staff and student employees, all while providing guidance to those in student government and while fostering a culture of accountability growth and student centered learning.
- Marisela is the embodiment of what it means to be an educator. She has advised legislative councils and senates alike, and has supported the student mission for agency regardless of form it took. Marisela is the ultimate advocate for her students, for the Chicano/Chicana/Chicanx community, and for everyone who comes from background whose culture is elsewhere
- Marisela has proved herself the most skilled negotiator, a principled leader, a proud Chicana and an important friend.
- Now I will not speak necessarily for but I'll read the text out loud, and I'll leave it to the Senate to the side. Therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in the 76th Senate, on behalf of the AS ucsb, the 76th Senate, I hope and I pray and I humbly and respectfully request of you all to extend deepest gratitude to Dr Marisela Marquez for her steadfastness in service, dedication to advocacy, her guiding leadership for all undergraduate students here at UCSB

- Her work has proven pivotal to the development of the associated students, and may her dedication to the mission of education remind us that there is always another hat, another asteroid, another thought, and right on sitting just around the bend, thank you for your service.
- I keep you in my thoughts and prayers. Dr Marquez, every day, thank you again. Applause.

Dr. Marquez
- This is the first time I've been back in person in 4 months. I'm here as a champion, as a resource for you as senatros and as future leaders of the world
- Thank you very much
- I am emotionaly humbled by everything

7:02PM-7:24PM

Motion to add 20 minutes to the speaker's time
Harter - Hepburn
Call to question: Wahidullah
This motion passed at 7:03PM.

Charlie
- Hi everyone
- My name is Charlie Jyu.
- I'm a fourth year CS student.
- I will be graduating in two weeks.
- Over the past few weeks, I've instead been researching politics in the university to try to get a better understanding of how student governance works.
- To be honest, I got into this research for pretty selfish reasons.
- I personally tried to avoid distractions from my schoolwork, so it frustrates me when I end up having to take recreational activities I don't benefit from or even agree with.
- That's why I investigated more about AS and how it handles my fees.
- What I found was pretty surprising.
- So just like any old man, I wanted to give you guys some unwanted advice before leaving.
- So if you'll hear me, I'm hoping you can have more of a discussion before I leave.
- I'm not good at giving speeches, so it'd be great if this could be more of a discussion instead
- If anyone wants to interrupt me with any comments or concerns

- If we can have a back and forth discussion, if that's okay with the chair?

Lala
- No. Sorry

Charlie
- Next slide should have a table of contents
- Today I will present you with a few things I learned about AS and Student Government across history and across the UC schools.
- Before I begin, I want to make clear my comments today are not targeted at any specific group or person. I'm speaking broadly about patterns of practice that have developed over time.
- My goal is to raise awareness about how student fees are elevated in the hope that it serves the needs of all students.
- This presentation will go over a lot of high level patterns that emerge with AS histories and what they may mean.
- The next slide has a chart made by the Senate outreach committee presented a few weeks ago.
- So most students don't know what the Senate or what Associated Students does as an organization. I remember asking around one of my classes if any students knew what they stand or what the judicial council was, and they didn't know what those were. I asked them who the President was, and they said Donald Trump.
- So clearly, at least in my classes, nobody knows what AS is.
- I think you will probably all have similar experiences, too.
- On the next slide, we can see a graph showing voter turnout over the years that reflects the same trend on the next graph
- As can be seen from this chart, at one point consistently got up to 40% of the student body to vote.
- This is higher than some of American counties.
- The records were a bit sparse, and most of them were not accessible to members of the public, so I was only able to get my hands on the 1992 election results from the ones past the ones posted online.
- As for any of the visuals in this presentation, if anyone wants to continue this work and fill in all the missing data points, I'd be glad to work with you and set things up so they just can have this information for next year.
- But an interesting observation from this graph is that, AS has only recently failed secured 20% of the vote. Once in 2022 and once again this year. This disengagement is a new phenomenon, historically, and in the next slide, we'll take a look at some of the causes for this withdrawal.
- The two main causes this year was a judicial injunction and a remarkable lack of transparency all throughout the year, all ASL take right now would be an undertake
- As a voter not affiliated with AS, I tried to learn as much as possible.

- I really tried to find all the information I could on how my fees were being used. I looked through the AS legal code and found 40 programs, plus 2 others I had gone by in person
- Today, earlier, I found out there's more organizations I didn't know about,
- But out of those 42, 4 of them didn't have any contact information listed.
- I emailed the remaining 38 of them. Only 12 responded. 26 ghosted me
- When I tried to get financial transparency through continuous finance itself, I was told they can't show expenditure records to members of the public, so my only option left was to file California Public Records back request. But that takes 10 to 12 weeks to process, and even at the end of that period, there's no guarantee that information is actually disposable.
- So if you've ever felt like it's impossible to know where your student fees are going, you're not imagining. Less than a third of organizations respond to requests for information, and in an environment like this, it's not difficult to imagine why voters are so disengaged.
- On the next slide, we'll begin to look more into AS finances and understand a larger picture.
- So we've known for years that low income students, especially those from underrepresented communities, are attending prestigious UCs and CSUs at much lower rates than their wealthier peers.
- Many instead go to community colleges, not because of their academic ability, because of financial barriers.
- Meanwhile, the cost of attending New Schools has only skyrocketed. This trend is part of a broader shift in how higher education is funded and who it's built to serve.
- On the next slide, we'll take a look at some of the historical records we still have on campus.
- Okay, so the UCSB Library Archives only holds records dating back to 1988 and 1989 academic year. But this data was very informative. To analyze it, you first have to understand the 1988 was a radically different world from today.
- This is around the time when most of our boomer parents were still attending school.
- This is a period when the AS Senate was passing resolutions urging the United States and the USSR to generalize diplomatic relationships and pursue nuclear disarmament.
- This was a very different world from today. And the philosophy behind the student government then wasn't primarily about line item budgets or club allocations. It was about political engagement, student organizing, and using the Senate platform for public discouragement
- During my research, it was striking to see how much the focus has shifted over the decades from advocacy and vision to bureaucracy and funding logistics.
- The next slide shows the graph tracking this phenomenon, displaying student fees, the AS program budget and the consumer price index from 1988 until now. This graph shows the AS fee per student, program board budget as the percentages compared to their 1988 to 1989 base bounds. It also shows the CPI index, so we can get a sense of how much their spending power is actually increasing over time. Something you'll notice is in 2008 there's a very large increase, both the fee per quarter and program bar function.

- They tripled AS fees and gave a majority of it to the program board.
- Remember this point, because we're going to talk about it on the next slide when we look at the voting history of 2006 and 2008
- So in 2006 the UC regents instituted a new financing program called Return to aid, designed to return a portion of all new fees students paid directly to financial aid. They mandated that from then onward, at least 25% of all new fees had to be reserved and sent directly to the financial paid office, meaning the organizations will get the 75% for themselves. This was the minimum floor. So the UCS did have the option of setting the rate higher, which a fusion did, including UC Berkeley, setting their rate 33%
- UCSB gave its option to the students to vote. Their options were as listed on the cycle above, and the 25 option one with just 30% of the vote. I think the greatest tragedy of this whole thing is that 50% of the student body sustained in 2006. They had the opportunity to increase equity and access, and they consciously chose to work against. But the most horrible part of this whole history is that just two years after voting to keep return to aid at the base minimum, the students voted to triple fees on all students and give a majority of it to the program board.
- Understand how the burden shifts under different effects of return to aid and build a model that could measure the effects of return to aid and affect financial burdens that would be on the link.
- I would love to talk about all the things that went into implementing this. Let's talk about coding and math, and if anyone has any questions, I'll probably take them after the presentation.
- The general pattern that this model proves is twofold. No matter what return to aid rate you set, the distribution will always have a long tail, meaning you will always disenfranchise some students when you increase fees.
- Second is that increasing the return to aid rate does help clamp down on the long tail, meaning, if programs are efficient, it could have a net positive effect on students that can’t afford to enroll.
- On the next slide, we'll take a look at UCSB Student Government budget versus UC Berkeley's
- I wasn't able to get the records for this in time. It's super easy if anyone want to complete this graph for the next year, you just file across campus records requests from UC Berkeley. They would put it in a box, send it on a truck. You'd have a week to look at it, and they send it back. So if any of you are interested, you could complete this visual.
- But the general idea I wanted to prove here was that UCSB outspends UC Berkeley's Student Government two to one per capita, we are literally spending twice as much and charging twice as much on our students that they do
- On the next slide, we'll take a look at these that passed and failed, the affirmations throughout the years. The green bars represent the number of fee reaffirmations that pass in a given year, while the red bars represent the number of fee reaffirmations that fail in a given year. There's a lot I could say about this data, but I think it really speaks for itself.

- So in the next slide, we'll talk about pro and con statements. So pro and con statements are submitted every year and added into each year's election supplement that is released by the AS elections for every year. Pro statements are submitted by various interest groups that are usually directly funded by the measures they are writing support statements for. And all of the records I have seen, I have not found a single con statement submitted for any reaffirmation, and this is primarily due to the structure of AS. The only people that understand organizations funded by AS are the organizations themselves and the senators they work. Of course, these organizations do not want to lose funding and will never work against themselves. Meanwhile, the political philosophy of the Senate has long been to help voters decide themselves on key issues and not to interfere with votes. This combination has led to today's vacuum of information, where fee reaffirmations are little more than our staff vote. And the next slide shows a particular defined example of this.
- So in 2022 the UC Regents changed the structure of how UCSA, a student advocacy group, was funded. This change meant that it was now a lockdown fee and was inconsistent with the existing legal code, making it a redundant fee. According to your legal code, the only way to remove a fee is through a popular vote. So the 2022 Senate sent it to the popular vote. The ballot language on this measure is pretty clear. It is basically telling voters to vote no. It says, even if voters vote no, the Senate will petition the Chancellor to do it anyway, because the fee is completely redundant. Even with this explicitly clear language, 25% of students still voted to keep the fee. This is crazy, because the Senate tried its hardest to show you are supposed to vote to remove the fee. There was no cognizable reason to vote no. It's still 25% of students voted to keep it. You might be wondering why people voted to keep this fee, and in the next slide, we'll take a look at some of the reasons people support fees and spending in general.
- So I mean, there are a lot of reasons people could support fees, their ideological reasons, political reasons, personal reasons, the enforcement of phenomena that has taken place at UCSB AS is that it evolved from a political organization to financial for support groups might be demonstrated for funding, not solidarity.
- This is unlike any other UC, which still has fiscally small but politically active student governments. The underlying structure and mission of student governments was always intended to be a political organization, and this is something our AS has gotten wrong. I'm speaking in general here.
- Across the history of student governments, I think a lot of student governments had a lot of earnestly good intentions and wanted to pursue things like social justice and equitable positive university
- However they don’t understand is that the student government was not designed for redistribution. The Associated Students government can only spend by taxing students.
- With each increase in fees, there is a raising of social barriers. As always, these barriers are almost heavily among students from underrepresented groups.

- Additionally, students who oppose fees are almost never represented in AS politics, not because their views don't exist, but because they're structurally extruded from the conversations. The people who show up to Senate meetings week after week are usually those who are asking for more funding, those who are already involved in AS, or people who are part of committees. The editors regularly hear from students who believe in expansion programs, forming new committees or continuing established spending, but they rarely ever hear from students on the other side, those who are skeptical of fees or who are burned
- The reason is simple, those students can't afford to be here.
- So even if a senator wanted to advocate for reducing fees, pulling back spending, they wouldn't have the political backing to do so. The opposition is missing in the process entirely.
- The next slide is the last slide. So despite these concerns over equity, this year, Senate will likely be unable to reduce fees in a meaningful way. This is not due to a lack of will, rather the accumulation of 19 years worth of barriers, most AS funded programs are tied to reaffirmation votes that historically passed without serious scrutiny. The legal code protects these programs, many of which now have entrenched administrative backing and cultural legitimacy, regardless of current effectiveness. Moreover, any attempt to cut funding risks immediate political backlash in various organizations, Senators defending for legitimacy and reelection. Because of this, even modest efforts, reduced fees will be certain to fail
- Before I leave, I just want to thank you for having an opportunity to take that this presentation wouldn't have been possible without the help of many senators and board members who are eager and determined to help improve transparency for our student body. If anybody in the Senate or in the audience has any questions or especially concerns, I'd be happy to take them.

Sussman
- Thank you for coming
- Without constituents like you, we simply cannot do our jobs
- In terms of increasing trasnapency, I think that is most of us ran on, the 76th Senate
- What, as a Senate and the Assocation, can we do, in your mind, to best increase transparency and reduce fiscal turmoil on students

Charlie
- One of the most pragmatic would be combining a lot of existing BCUS.
- When you set up a lot of distinct BCUs. There are legal requirements.
- You have to have everyone have a website. This website has to be ADA compliant. They have to all communicate with each other. They have to give honoraria to each committee member. There's a lot more overhead, and not just with more and more BCUs you have.
- I think one of the founding philosophies with the fee reaffirmation system was to actually prevent the amount of BCUs to ever get to this high amount.

- Because the democratic, the utopian democratic vision, was that you would have voters every year scrutinizing all of these fees.
- But unfortunately, everything gets voted yes

Luken
- Thank you for coming in
- I appreciate your dedication to the assocaiton
- Do you believe a breakdown of campus fees and student fees similar to what you showed in the receipts from 80s or 90s
- Do you think a breakdown like that on BARC is beneficial?

Charlie
- That information is already publicly available from former budgets
- The one I showed on the slide is the budget from 1988
- I think right now the problem is an issue of granularity
- A lot of the fee on ballot arent going to the programs that are listed there
- As I have discovered today, there are even more BCUs I wasnt aware of that are apparently receiving student fees

Claro
- Regarding financial stuff
- That will be really useful when it comes to creating new legislation to address these issues
- One question I have, you mentioned oxymoron earlier
- You said that increases in student fees increases social barriers
- What evidence from your statistical analysis?
- What have you found that support that
- Was it statistically significant at all?

Charlie
- It was less of a statistical point
- When you increase tuition, you increase social barrier

Claro
- How about look at lock-in fees for example
- Do you have any recommendations on how to fix that?

Charlie
- Going back to the model
- It shows what happens if you set the return to aid at different rates
- Phenomena that will happen if you increase the different rate
- You increase return to aid up to 70%, you could actually have a progressive income tax
- You actually start showing all the burden such that you are proxiing more financial aid

- So I think if you want to work towards equality, you start by increasing the return to aid percentage

Wahidullah
- Thank you so much again
- For some of your insights in regards to for example, the RTA program in comparison to some of the UC programs that where the majority are connected to program board
- I wanted to hear some from your perspective and everything.
- How would you recommend associate students to engage student body collaborating from our ITE program, instead of funding these program board.
- I just want to give more elaboration in regards to the RTA.

Charlie
- Are you asking me what return to aid is?

Wahidullah
- As you mentioned before
- As the current climate
- Some of the RTA program and funding has been redicted towards programing

Charlie
- Return to aid refers to the financing program where a protaiton of all the fees they receive
- Namely 25%
- Instead of going to them, will go to financial aid office
- So we all pay $10, $2.5 will go to financial aid office, and $7.5 will go to program board

Toledo
- Thank you Charlie
- This is very cool info
- Love for you to explain a little bit more in context on what the AS program board graph means

Charlie
- This is a general graph
- No matter what

Toledo
- Program board graph
- Not the RTA one
- Would you mind explaining this graph?

Charlie

- This graph shows the growth of these budgets as well as compared to the CPI over time.
- The red bar shows the program board's budget, how it's grown over time as compared to the base value. The fee per quarter shows how it's grown as compared to base value and the CPI as well.
- So anything above the CPI line would be increasing in real spending
- Tnd the board budget is 800 times as large now.

Than
- Thank you so much for doing this
- Also for future generation of students
- I understand that you are graduating, so important that you are offering this information for future
- Regarding things the Senate could do
- Do you think it is a feasibly idea for Senate to be involved how BCUs boards operate or looking into what BCUs board do
- The how BCU boards operate or looking into what they do

Charlie
- I'm not an expert on that
- Up to you

Claro
- Have you seen any AS legal code that would let us increase RTA?

Charlie
- Listed page 45 of your campus regulations
- From I understand his is only a minimum floor
- I'm not sure if you would have to talk to the chancellor to decrease i officially
- I beelive you can do it without having to change campus regulations explicitly

Jones
- I think you mentioned obstacles we would face when it comes to combining BCUs
- By legal code and by poltocial cultural reasons
- In your perspective, are there any possible ways to solve this?

Charlie
- Very unlikely

Lala
- We still have 3 minutes for Q&A

Pascher
- Can you clarify and explicitly define for everyone in this room

- Why you chose to compare UCSB to UC Berkley associated student fees
- I'm aware UCSB has the highest lock-in fees
- I'm aware there is a lot of concern
- But I would like you to carlfiy for eveyrine why you chose UC Berkeley to compare all these

Charlie
- My friend goes there, he was supposed to give me the information on the budget
- Other UC should be similar
- Other UC might actually be lower than Berkeley

2. Leo Brown [Presentation]
(7:25PM)

Motion to extend the speaker time by 10 minutes
Malhis - Chauldhry
Call to question: Jones
This motion passed at 7:27PM.

Leo
- First of all, thank you for having me here.
- I'm Leo Brown, and I'm a third year economics and environmental studies, double major, and also a brand new fellow for the 2025 cohort.
- And recently, I just got introduced to a CEO of a sustainable hygiene company. And today I'm going to be pitching an opportunity to improve hygiene, equity and sustainability on campus.
- So first we got to address the main student problem. The main student problem across 11 colleges was that over 8,000 across 11 universities voted that detergent was the number one hygiene product that they wanted to refill, and detergent is a major pain point for students, because traditional laundry detergent was one of the highest costs for students and universities, and a lot of students don't have the ability to pay for that, and that results in decreased hygiene
- That is also a university problem, where, if we're sticking to traditional laundry detergent alternatives, such as tid pods or liquid detergent options, you see detergent causing a mess. They're traditionally designed to overuse, so that you come back to the store and buy more detergent when you don't really need it, such as a liquid detergents, they design the caps to where you overfill them, and that can result in oversights of machines, leading to breaking machines and wasting University money on new pieces or capital expenditures of the machine
- I propose to you guys a solution to this problem, to increase hygiene equity and reduce campus costs
- The generation conscious, which is the company that I'm working directly with, the plastic free laundry detergent sheet dispensers, easily, convenient, saves money, dispenses accurately size detergent, pretty much in this image you see here, you would just use the interface, press a button and it would dispense detergent sheets which are plastic free. It'sdehydrated cells into a sheet form, and I have samples that I could provide to all of you guys today if you'd like to try them out yourselves.

- They're 300% cheaper for students and reduced downtime machines because they're accurately sized for the washing machines.
- There's already 24 universities, or actually 25. This is slightly outdated, but 25 universities have adopted generation conscious at their universities, and students have also contributed to what we just talked about. What is the increase moving forward by $10 a month, but traditional detergent is $30 for approximately three months, whereas generation conscious detergent sheets would be about $10 per year, which we can incorporate into student fees for about $3 per quarter.
- That saves a lot of money for our students.
- Show a few collegesof who they're already partnered with.
- Generation conscious has already done a life cycle assessment to compare itself to other detergent brands such as Tide Pods, and you can see right here that in terms of transportation, there's a savings of 99% in CO2 emissions, 95% in embodied energy and materials, and the total carbon equivalent leverage is 95% reduction.
- The benefits of the UI is that the university can choose to have a questionnaire where students can interact with it, and they can basically teach students about sustainable laundry room habits such as using cold water versus hot water. 93% less energy than using hot water, and it cleans with higher efficacy as well. And based on 12 interviews with universities, admins, the number one pain point in the laundry room was switching students to cold water because of the higher costs.
- What is generation concisous is the leading system chain solutions across global campuses, and it is the only for profit organization that serves on the board of directors for ash, largest independent verifier of a university carbon neutrality, waste diversion and climate stars
- The question is, who maintains these laundry detergent vehicle stations, primarily first generation low income students, gain tangible work experience while facilitating the career transition of the workforce. So say UCSB were to go ahead and try to purchase these dispensers, 45% of the revenue that generation conscious receives would provide job experience at UCSB by using that revenue and employing them at $20 an hour as junior product managers.
- And I can go into that a little more on the next slide, where the responsibilities where they would be able to collaborate with mechanical, electrical and software engineers to maintain the refill stations, document performance, analyze data and identify areas for improvement in these expentures, and they would also be able to manage relationships with students, administration
- This also contributes to keeping a closed loop economic system on campus.
- We've seen a lot of success through janco, across college campuses and the globe. Student fellows are 187 student fellows hired as junior product managers. 76% of them were first generation low income students, generally conscious prioritizing these students, because they are usually the ones that are marginally underrepresented within our communities, and especially the ones that face hygiene inequity.

- There's a 38% operating budget paid to the student fellows, which again is $20 an hour and expected to make roughly $500,000 per academic year.
- 3.7% of equity is granted to 41 student fellows every year. Generation conscious would grant 1% equity to the best performing first generation low income students.
- 81% of the student fellows who have worked generation conscious graduate with a full time job and have recovered offers at top institutions such as Google, JP Morgan, Whirlpool.
- Providing services to the college community and to the world beyond. 2.1 minimum number of loads of longitudinal dispensed without packaging so far since their origin, and then 800 or 84.1 1000, number of college students who change behavior from single use plastic to refilling with the laundry sheet or the laundry sheets instead of other detergent options. And then$ 53,000 average campus annual savings and utility expenses, new leases and capital expenditures in Michigan downtown.
- And then these are just a few statements from Williams College. Mike Evans, who was the deputy director of sustainability, “we look forward to expanding generation conscious on campus. They are a standard organization by sourcing and delivering products in ways that reduce greenhouse gas emissions and offering Michigan employment opportunities for first generation low income students.”
- Another testimonial where generation conscious would like to like just highlight how state universities are the biggest advocates for driving word of mouth road. And you can see here like Jane Goodall and Jamie Jacquard, the Assistant Director of campus sustainability and residential initiatives at UMass, claimed that the students love the generation conscious detergent sheets. They were excited to deploy the refill station in every dorm to extend life of our washing machines and reduce machine downtime, once again, just to show some diversity and how campuses actually receive this product on campuses.
- And so how can we see, our upcoming mirror success stories that we saw at UCSB. So today I'm here to garner community interest, pushing out surveys and informational content to campus.
- Today, I was tabling at the arbor.
- I just did my first few weeks tabling, only two days, and we already have about 100 people who are interested in completing the survey
- And today, I'm looking for anyone who's interested in a qualified team of you guys to achieve support in the Department of Food rules.
- But I also would like to find funding for this, and that could be either through the as program or any other organizations that see fit or are interested in sustainability or equity on campus, sort of like what I mentioned there
- There's two costs that we would have to look into, which is a pilot and also the post pilot. But looking just at the pilot, the pilot would entail that UCSB would buy two of the dispensers, which is not many, and that would cost $4,000 per machine, for two units $8000 total. Shipping, $1,000 shipping per machine, $2,000 total. And the detergent sheets would be $40,000 for two units, but 10,000 per unit and $10,000 per 20,000 sheets would serve approximately 750 and 1,000 students. The maintenance costs, it would be free and covered by generation conscious by employing those students who are maintaining those machines and rebellion. So the total pilot cost, there are two machines, would be the $20,000

- But post pilot, we would see a lot of reductions and discounts if we would decide to implement these in all laundry rooms, so there'd be 75% discount per machine, totaling $1,000 per machine outside of the pilot. And that would just increase depending on how many we decide to purchase, and the shipping and virtual said, becomes free with the turd sheets receive a 60% discount being 15 cents per sheet, and still at that 10,000 permission, and which would mean with 1,500 permission to supply them to that 60% discount
- And if we were to only have the pilot, which would entail the two machines, I propose that maybe you set up at the UCEN or SRB, highest population dormitory, all would be the ideal locations.
- We only have two dispensers the UCEN or SRB would allow access for those who are not staying on campus, so say an IV to access this resource
- But if we were to target also the highest population dormitory. We could also track the progress and see how that performs within the dorm space. But the end goal is, obviously, to install them in all laundry rooms to maximize hygiene equity.
- I also put the survey
- That is the survey that I was tabling with to garner student interest and see how many people are actually interested in this.
- But today, I'm asking you guys to join me in generation conscious to implement a system of transformation on our campus.
- Thank you. mMy contact and also the contact of the CEO who I'm working directly with, if you would like to ask any questions.

Sussman
- Thank you for coming
- How long does the supply last for each unit

Brown
- But 10,000 sheet per dispenser
- If all the sheets were used before the time period was expected, they would refill it for free
- If we buy one dispenser, we will fill it up with 10,000 sheets
- If it is out before the quarter
- They will refill for free

Sussman

- This could be considered a high-impact project
- Realm of possibility for Senate
- We would need a project manager
- Have you discussed this with other environmental or basic needs committes

Brown
- I reached out to a few through insta DM but still pending response
- Message was sent few days ago
- I just got into contact with this company
- About three weeks ago I got contact with CEO of the company
- I just been working on this recently
- We already seen a lot of interest through tabling
- I met some people working on Eli capstone project
- Very interested
- They were trying to put out hygiene projects for free on campus for students as well
- Feeling collaborating with environmental affairs board or environmental justice alliance or anyting related to
- Like basic needs
- Im working on this kind of solo but that is why im here
- Want to see what kind of support I can get

Sussman
- Is this fully free for students or subsized?

Brown
- Depend on where the funding comes from
- Say we get enough funding to cover cost of the sheets
- The dispensers from an organizaiton like the AS
- Then free for students
- Say we want to cover cost through student free
- Quarterly student fee
- $10 per year
- For full cost of supplying the detergent sheets

Carlo
- I work from basic needs
- They would love to collaborate on this
- Which body would be in charge of these machines?

Brown
- Buying the machine is from AS commitee
- Maintainin and refilling would be through first gen students generation conscious would employ with that 45% revenue return back

Sherkin

- I appreciate the presentation
- I know it is a pilot prgram
- Have you been contacted with design facility and safety services
- Have you had, have you had any push back so far?

Brown

- Sent an email
- I can double check
- I was ghosted
- Maybe we would have to follow up on the email

Harter

- Thank you for presentntion
- Appreciate the work ethic
- Agree with sSenator Sessman
- This is something you want to pruse via high impact project
- Would you be willing to serve as the project manager?

Brown

- Question on how that process will go?
- I would love to head this project

Lala

- Best route is through advocacy committee
- Once that is fully appointed, you could be in close contact with them
- Sessiman referred to whether it being free or subsdiced for students
- It is referring to slide four
- Where you say 300% cheaper for students?
- What are you referring to?
- Because otherwise my udnersanding is that if these dispensers is placed UCEN or SRB
- It would be a free for students

Brown

- It would be free for students but i was comparing it to using tide pods or liquid detergents
- Statistics traditional detergent is approxiamtely $30 per month whereas generation conscious would be $10 per year
- There was a question on how it would be funded, that depends on whether it would go through student fees
- Which would be $10 per student per year
- Only 4,500 students would need to pay that $10 for it to be fully covered
- Or UCSB would buy the sheet therefore no costs to students at all
- It can either be free or 300% reduction

Lala

- It is a pilot program
- Where there is two dispensary
- Free for students

Brown

- There's no cost if you want to use the machine, you just press a button
- You get dispense the sheets
- Plastic free, better for the environment
- Quick how to use them, take 2-3 and break into pieces and throw them in the washing machine

3. El Congreso de UCSB 7:47pm - 7:53pm

- I'm here on behalf of Congreso, to respectfully request a motion to reallocate a portion of our AS finance and business funding to fund our annual Latina college days. So this academic year, we were awarded approximately $17,000 however, due to the last minute cancellations from participating schools, we were unable to utilize funds originally allocated for transportation. So as a result, we have about 10 grand remaining. We are requesting that the unused transportation fund be redirected towards covering the cost of CSO services and also for best classroom technology. Since these expenses were not anticipated in our original budget. We were informed that we needed to pay for CSO services only, like the day before our conference, which we've been throwing this conference for 30 years, and we never needed to have these services. CSO services also the hourly rate burger events, classroom technology has increased before we had allocated about $500 towards that. Again, we've been throwing this conference for 30 years. It's 2500 now. So it got increased to two or an additional two grand. Additionally, we would like to amend our one time good exemption. Instead of using super cucas, we would like to use a different restaurant. So given recent budget cuts across various departments and increased service costs, our funding needs have shifted, and we asked the AS Senate to approve the reallocation from our awarded as FMB funds accordingly. I also sent an email earlier today to Eman.

Luken

- Point of information. What happens to funds that no one uses?

Zha

- If a fund already allocated was not used, I believe it is reallocated towards the general budget. If the chair would allow some financial questions
- Do you mind what is the original event date./

Speaker

- The original event day was April 26 of 2025

Zha
- When is the amended date?

Speaker
- It already passed, we already had our conference

Zha
- So you are looking for retroactive relloacation

Speaker:
- Yes
- This is important to us
- It's being charged to my BARC account, and I want to walk in the spring and take classes over the summer, so it needs to be resolved. This will cut into my financial aid

4. Arab Student Group Request
Malhis (7:53PM)
- Hi. I am representing the Arab student group today. I am the external Finance Chair for the group. Arab student group was a registered campus organization since, I want to say before 2020 but when COVID hit, the group shut down, but we maintained our registration, but throughout the entire time of its existence, and then Club was brought back this year, we never opened up an AS finance account, so any like as account, we never requested funding through AS or anything.
- And as part of the new board, I am requesting a $250 operating budget for the RCO. We're planning on requesting funding in the future for like next year and everything. And we plan on using this $250 budget for our banquet this Friday, which all of the money will be used for food.
- We are agreeing to meet the workshop requirements. We are agreeing to send requisitions, receipts, invoice requirements for any funding in the future from Associated Students. We also agree to be fiscally accountable for all of our financial management and it's about it

- Is the Arab student group currently a registered RCO with an account number?

Malhis
- Yes
- We were given the account number directly from Vincent

Lala
- And you checked the eligibility and it can be used for an event?

Malhis

- Yes

Luken
- Do you have authorized signers?

Malhis
- We have not been to the workshop yet. We do agree to be accountable

5. Franci Adjangba, Human Rights Board Co-Chair (7:56PM)

Adjangba
- Human Rights board feels compelled to express its concern regarding the proposed legislation, resolution to enact standing policy 43 while we recognize and respect the intention behind it, we believe that it is our duty to emphasize that the enactment of this policy would have detrimental consequences on the ability of BCUs use to fulfill their respective responsibilities in An efficient and effective manner.
- The proposed changes would significantly disrupt the efficiency of our processes, ultimately undermining the ability of BCUs to serve the student body and campus organizations. Any policy that imposes additional procedural burden, burdens delays communication or restricts our flexibility in any decision making and jeopardizes the overall mission to serve students at its core.
- Furthermore, we're concerned that the proposal was not communicated to the BCU right, given the significant impact the decision would have on the basic functioning of these entities, given that a majority of Senate members campaign on the principles of transparency. We feel that this proposed legislation contradicts this directly, as those who would be most impacted were not included in the planning process.
- In addition to these concerns, the timing of this proposal will have immediate and disruptive consequences for operations, particularly for the Human Rights board as it currently stands, the Human Rights board is in the process of appointing its new board members and co-chairs before the conclusion of the current academic year.
- Standing policy 43 especially without a delayed implementation timeline, would introduce additional layers of bureaucracy that make it virtually impossible to finalize these appointments before the end of this quarter, under the proposed policy, the Human Rights board will be required to submit job descriptions to the designate pro tempore, receive approval from the internal vice president, and then wait for formal confirmation by the Senate. Given that there is only one senate meeting remaining, this three step process cannot be completed in time without a function board or conformed leadership over the summer, the Human Rights affordability to onboard new members, plan fall programming and allocate bonuses student advocacy projects and be severely compromised.

- This not only undermines our continuity and efficiency, but also jeopardizes our mission to advocate for marginalized communities and respond to student needs in a timely manner. We ask that the Senate either delay the implementation of this policy until the start of the next academic year, or amend the policy to examine current BCU appointment processes from from these new requirements, such as stuff would honor the integrity of transitional timelines, protect the functionality of student, run forwards and uphold the commitment to collaborative and transparent governance. We urge all decision makers to carefully reconsider the unintended consequences This policy would bring the smooth execution of BCU duties is not a matter of convenience, it is essential to ensure the student body is effectively served by Associated Students

- Are you aware this policy will not impact current appointments?

Zha
- Under standing rules of the 76th AS senate, section B, clause 4. It states that all legislation prior to being voted on must first be deferred to the senate standing committee.
- What it means is that all legislation needs to be referred to a different standing committee.
- I assure you that i dont believe it won't be until sometime in the fall quarter

Lala
- Unless something that happens very rarely, not only would it be tabled, but it's table to this committee to go into really close consideration. I'm aware that the authors of this legislation did this on purpose so that it would only apply later in the term and for future terms,
- While understanding that this is nowhere near enough time for BCU appointments and the entire process to adapt in the short term. I hope that clarifies for us.

Than
- Thank you for coming. By the way, this is really important that we need to hear from the BCU regarding legislation that we make. Hearing the answer to your concerns. Do you feel that this policy is something that the BCU would be okay with?

Adjangba
- Yes, of course. We just think it should be tabled for next year

Claro
- What do you mean by imposing bureaucracies?

Franci

- It just adds more steps, more work for co-chairs
- Not that we are against that but it would have to be something for next year

Motion to extend speaker time by 3 minutes
Harter - Malhis
Call to question: Jones
This motion passed at 8:05PM.

Lala
- Oh you guys are here for chair reports?

Speaker
- Yes

Lala
- That is later on in the agenda

Alexa Butler (8:07PM)

Motion to extend speaker's time by 3 minutes.
Wahidullah - Jones
Clal to question: Claro
This motion passed at 8:08PM.

Butler
- Hello Senators. If I haven't met you yet or introduced myself, my name is Alexa Butler. Just last week, I was right up there. I served as Letters and Science Senator last year. My junior year I chaired a BCU and also last year I served as the Second Pro- tempore. So I have held a myriad of titles over my last 4 years. I am also graduating in 17 days. Today, I come to you as a student and I have a couple of points I want to hit.
- But firstly, I want to just come and apologize from the bottom of my heart to you all. Last week was supposed to be exciting and fun and a proud moment for me too, but for sure, you all, you guys will make an amazing Senate. I already know that for sure, and I feel immensely grateful and trust you guys completely with taking the Senate to even more unknown places than any ever before. So I first want to say that you know and offer myself as a resource. Are you Senator Jones, hi. So you do second, congratulations, soon to be I want to first offer, of course, myself to you as a resource. But you all again, I've been in AS a while the Senate was too tumultuousto say the least. But again, I just want to give my gratitude to you all. Feel confident, and this is again, well deserved. I would say my biggest piece of advice. You all entering, entering this new role in this position, is one, of course, trust in yourself. You got elected for a reason. You're exactly where you need to be, and you're going to do great. So trust that you have the ability but also trust in each other, because you all are the Senate.

- And you know, I'm sorry, but it's unfortunate, the Senate is probably the most hated body as a given, it was inherited last year, and you guys all definitely inherited that as well. So if people are coming to you and saying, Oh,I hate the Senate, almost like embrace it. You know, you're the most hated, most native place, but that's also why you're here. To be the change. You know, for the whole campus, and your position is immensely important. But I just wanted to articulate that and make you guys feel good at this moment, and then also apologize for what a firework last week was when it shouldn't have been.
- Today I'm coming back, or as last week, I did not get to present my HIP proposal and hopefully I'll be able to talk a lot more in depth about it later on tonight, but over spring break, I went on this life changing trip, and it was completely funded for it.
- It was in collaboration with CAPS and I traveled to four states, New Orleans, Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee. And on these 10 days, the whole spring break, we went to all of these like historical sites, not only to African American history, but US history itself. Some of these sites include the Edmund Pettus Bridge, the little rain motel where Martin Luther King was asassinated so only like super important places and completely changed my life. I love talking about it because I say that this trip not only changed my life, it changed my family's life, and every single person that I've talked to now because of it, because you guys are all reliving that history and making that future possible for every single person that I encounter with regards to it.
- But last week, I didn't get to give the said presentation again. It was a packed agenda, and it was signed off, I would say
- I did not want a mess. I've been in the back working on my senior thesis, which is the draft. The second draft is due tonight. I have finals coming up, and should be thinking about, my post grad plans and my job interviews that are lined up, but I came back because one, you all inspired me so to the senators who reached out and have been on my side and supporting me, you all inspired me to come back today. So truly, truly, thank you. You give me hope. So I'm back to request a couple of things. One to be, I'm requesting to be, let me send you the email. I'll send you all the email. Let me know if you don't get it. Speaker, the senator,Just last week i was right up there

Motion to extend speaker time by 5 minutes.

Called to question: Chaudhry
This motion passed at 8:14PM.

Butler

- First asking a couple things, one to be motioned onto action items, and also then to present said HIP and then I'll really talk about how amazing it was and give a full breakdown, so we can talk a little bit more in detail.
- And then also, I'm requesting to be added to new business. Last week, a resolution passed urging the office of the Associated Students executive director to create the BHC sub account for the HIP, once terms and resolutions also expire.
- Because even though this past I'm out of turn, this needs to be reaffirmed to work with the HIP. So that's the second request, is to be motioned to amend the motion and be added under new business and add this.
- I'm always a resource. Feel free to, you know, chat me up about all the above. And then, too, I did want to articulate the whole purpose of the trip and why I didn't want to come back. I was angry and really, really sad. I was sad after last week, but the whole purpose of the trip is to keep fighting.
- You know that that's what my ancestors did, and that's what I need to do, and it is community care, so that's why, in that even also because the support of you all and the encouragement of you all

Sussman
- Thank you for returning. Having done a trip myself of historical trips of my culture, I'm looking forward to your presentation, I understand how important it is. I am looking forward to your presentation

Malhis
- Thank you senator Butler, it takes a lot of confidence to come back after, like, facing a lot of challenges, especially with this project over I want to say you've been working on this for like, well over, like base month, drafted came up with this idea, and you came back every single week.
- And you've been very resilient many times. You were told you needed to change something about it. You refined it. You came back again. And even after turning out, you came back to us once again today. And we really want to, we really value you coming to us, and we really want to, like, push this plan for it for you and for all your friends and for all the black community at this campus.
- When students come to college, like any individual going to college, sometimes you lose a little bit of your culture. You lose a little bit of your identity, because you're just swarmed by so many new people and everything.
- In my case, my family didn't really talk to me about my culture and stuff like that. Going onto campus, the first time I actually considered myself a part of, like, some sort of cultural group, whether it is science related, whether it's culture related. I really want to make black students like find their sense of community on campus. Thank you

- Thank you again for coming today. I just appreciate coming here again this week, and everything, not only as a person to collaborate with but also as a friend. I know how hard working you are and how dedicated you are and all like but it's not just something you're passionate about.

- You always continue to try to drive effort towards it, and that's something that's super inspiring towards me and the very members of the very sensitive Senate as well. We'll make sure they put something in pushing and asking for when it comes to supporting your initiatives that you brought to just as well as reporting on your community as well.

Butler
- Thank you, that means a lot. I am confident I am leaving this campus in great hands.

Leo (8:20PM)
- I know the finance committe isn't meeting anymore. Could I request some funds? Could we do that here?

Lala
- That is acceptable. Maybe let's just have you talk to Zha.

Leo
- If that's easier then

Paolo Brinderson (8:21PM)
- I want to echo all the statements of the former senator. Sorry for cutting your guys' time. We had to do a lot of things in that meeting, and it wasn't a great introduction for you. So apologize in the you know, get thrown into the fire here, but I'm not here to talk about that. I'm here to talk about an event I'm hosting next week with the Santa Barbara County Board of Supervisors. Laura Capps's office.
- It's a town hall about the upcoming rental inspection program. This was kind of an initiative I was working on as a senator, and basically having proved it a couple weeks ago, it approves the planning and development department to go into every single rental property in IV and inspect it according to the housing code.
- So this town hall will provide much more information about this pretty inclusive program.So I highly recommend you come. I think it's a great introduction to the ivy housing space, and that's especially if you're off campus. Senator, I highly recommend and ask questions, especially to the supervisor. I was really interested in this program but because it's just going to come so soon and so needed.
- But I would highly recommend you guys to come and ask the supervisor you know what conditions need to be met for this program to be rolled over to next year or following years, because I really think it can be useful annually.
- Honestly, people in that rollover between tenants, I think that would be very helpful just to have county inspectors come along. But if you could get some sort of like frequency of this program, that would be great. It does rely on a set amount of funds, so if those funds run out, the county will have to find new funds.

- I implore you to make them see things about because I think hopefully this is a successful program, you know, and I think a lot of you guys are kind of confused on where to start.
- I think this would be a great place to start, and especially would be a key place for meeting leaders in IV and kind of knowing all the decision makers and all the very overlapping bureaucratic parties that exist, both on and off campus, so highly recommend you come and lobby with the supervisor with me.

Than
- Would you be willing to work with off campus senators to sway the board of supersivors to have meetings with them?

Brindeson
- Yes. My contact is on my transition document

Lala
- All transition documents are made available to all new senators

Harter
- Has this program been conducted in the past?

Brinderson
- That's a great question. So right now, It's a reactive program, so basically, students have to go on their website and file a Survey Monkey and it's like, pretty deep in the world, it was hard for you to find.
- But this is a new program. The county, the supervisors, they toured IV, like, a couple months ago.

Harter
- I'm sure I will gather more information once I go. If you happen to have it available do you know what they are planning on doing with such knowledge?

Brinderson
- It basically says, so the inspectors will come and inspect the units and their called recommendations, but their findings are given to the landlords, and the landlords have 30 days to fix them, and then there's a whole bunch of things that the county can do.
- And depending on how responsive landlords are, they can face civil junctions. And I think even more severe things,

Claro
- Is there a a worry that it wil get passed down to students the cost
- Is there a clause that ensures that does not happen?

Brinderson

- Unfortunately not
- They would have to set like a rent freeze sort of thing, t's very bureaucratic, but no, but the idea is that landlords fix it even before inspectors come and I the things that they're looking for, unless it's like an emergency, they're pretty low cost, so it's like the water, new smoke detectors, etc. Unfortunately, there is no limit. They can increase rents, but I don't. I don't see us.

Wahidullah
- If we are done with public forums, can we motion to add stuff to the agenda?

Zha
- Senator send both documents to my email

Wahidulah
- I can do that, I believe it was sent to you

Motion to unanimously consent to add HIP Proposal under action items.

Former Senator Alexa Butler's Speech
(10:40PM)
- Please feel free to have the presentation up. I wanted to have pictures so you guys can see what I'm talking about visually. What I really wanted to talk about, whenever I talk about this trup, which is so expansive, I have not talked about it every single day to one person. It's so much. Whenever someone asks me about my trip, I tell this story. You all are familiar with Martin Luther King Jr, I have a Dream Speech. This day, which is a way into the trip right now, we are in Memphis Tennessee. That flower is where he was assassinated. BUt before we went to the Lorraine, we learned about the history of the day he was assassinated and the events that led up to it. He was staying at the Lorraine motel and was in Memphis to do work about labor organizing. The night before, he had given his famous speech. It's called I've Been to the Mountain Top. He actually wasn't supposed to give this speech. Everyone had come to this church and wondered if Dr. Martin Luther King was going to come and speak, but he didn't plan on speaking. But the other organizers came and called him and he came and gave his speech. Not planned, impromptu. He kept talking bout God and how he's not worried about the future because God showed him the mountain top. It really did sit with me. I'm not a spiritual person. On this trip, the words I used to describe it was as synchroncity, enlightenment that you cannot describe as a higher power, ancestors watching over. I learned about the history of this speech that was impactful itself and as I'm learning about this, I find out he gave this speech April 3rd, my birthday. Both of my parents were born passed 1968 and so they were alive, I was already in conception. So we go to the Lorraine, which has now been turned to the National Civil Rights Museum.

- As you're going through the motel, it's a museum, but then you end right across from the room he was staying in.
- You get to see the room and it plays an audio of him. He knew that he was going to die, almost like a feeling. I wasn't sad today when I was getting all this hard information. I felt empowered in a sense when the day before Memphis, Tennessee, and we were in Alabama and in the Legacy Museum, we had some political conversation about how the current political president elect is trying to cut funding for this amazing museum. It's a 3 part museum, not pictures. I'm a black studies major so I had to read all the information. It was really hard that day so to go the next day and learn about Martin Luther King, I was feeling overwhelmed and overjoyed.
- We went and finished the walking tour and took a picture in front of the Lorraine hotel. I got a few compliments on this ankh. We took this picture and Dr. Meredith was like let's go on a walk to a crystal store, where we bought this and as we turn the street that's on the corner of Lorraine motel, I look up and the street sign says Butler Avenue. I couldn't ignore the synchronicity. I am menat to be here and this is where my ancestors are. To feel seen like that as a 22 year old was really surprising. I went into this trip thinking I was just going to learn more about African history, but my life was changed. It's exactly what I needed to move on to my post grad life. You can't erase a hard history from African American history.
- So about the trip, it's 10 days and takes 10 students and 3 staff members through the south. We cry and laugh and learn. Honestly, people have been trying to talk about funding towards BHCE. In my senate seat, I was like no, it's not senates issue, it's admin. I was completely wrong and this trip taught me that I was wrong. Me being here today is because of this trip. We have no funding for next year. I'm not even going on this trip, and I'm here advocating for this trip because it is the most life changing experience. There are not a lot of black spaces here at UCSB. BHCE and that experience has allowed 3 cohorts to change their lives. It's truly remarkable. Logistic wise, the reason that I felt like HIP was a good route, was because when I was a senator, the HIP that started my term was Linkedin Learning. With the linkedin learning, there was a lot of criticism throughout my term about the project taking a long time to get started and not having a good turnaround time. It was longwinded and not ready to start immediately. People felt impatient and questioned where the outcomes were. BHCE is a proven success. I am here as proof of that. Other cohorts are proven success rates. Also, we are struggling with the funding. The cohort is operated and run through CAPS. They are not only there for logistical coordination, but also emotional. They are the overviewers, project managers per say for said trip. I forgot my computer, but the HIP goes over the whole project in depth. The ask is 25k, not the whole trip, just lodging. The hotels when we are staying in Louisiana, Tennessee, Alabama. Also in the HIP too, it shows the itinerary. Most of the time we are in Lousisina, but maybe one day in Memphis or Mississippi. I know I won't be here next year. Another really big lesson I learned on this trip was community. Just because we are fellow senators, you are my senate community and I told you all that I have complete trust in you to if you feel empowered to, take this on and be the community to take this forward. This is Africa town, a historical site in Lousiana and was the last ship that brought ensalved Africans to America. It was cargoed at Africa town. This museum was brought to you by members of African Town. The people who are sustaining the community and building the community. I was asking some of the program organizers 'Do you get federal funding or Alabama state funding? Of course they don't. Well then how do you do this? Well it's the work of the community, Alexa, and that's why I'm here, I am continuing this work. And if you all feel inspired, I am here to support you guys. From the bottom of my heart, thank you for allowing me to speak today. That is all I wanted, I didn't even care about the vote. The opportunity humbnles me when I get to speak about this trip because it truly changed my life, made me a better organizer, leader, and better daughter. Thank you so much.

Claro

- Thank you for being here
- You did not need to apoligize for last week because I think that the entire environment was pressuring to me too. On behalf of the senate, I just want to say sorry for last week. In terms of the project. Would I have permission to speak freely?

Lala

- Freely and briefly please

Claro

- In terms of this project, how many students has this project served?

Butler

- 30, 3 cohorts, 10 each

Claro

- Would you say that all of those students would say this trip increased their academic consciousness on their history?

Butler

- Definitely

Claro

- That sounds like 100% program effectiveness. I completely support this initiative.

Luken

- You sent the project proposal and then also a resolution
- Would you like us to consider both tonight? Or what was that idea?

Butler

- The goal was to speak. How you take this forward, I leave that to you. I'm here for the long haul regardless of if I'm a student or not.

Than

- The main thing you mentioned is funding. Where is this funding from? Why is it mainly CAPS? Can this be a collaboration with departments and BCUs?

Butler

- CAPS doesn't give the funding. They find it every year. OBSD was a co-sponsor. BWHC used 20k from their budget too so they became a co-sponsor. A 100 is possible.

Pascher

- Thank you senator butler for reminding me what is worth fighting for and why it's important to hear everyones voice and opinions. I want to make sure that you are hearing it from me. It is especially important that your voice is heard as an outspoken member of this community. I want you to know that you are valued. I think USSA's funding may be a better route. I am not sure this falls under HIP. I think in its best interest it might be under BHCE. I want to maybe work on this and think about the best way to keep this alive among senators.

Butler

- The reason I ended up at HIP was I came across all these avenues and even USSA, but the entire problem was the time constraints. My goal was, limited thinking, by the time I graduate I want there to be at least some funding for this trip. I felt confident that there would be a trip next year.It doesn't need funding to feel confident about that. I would be open to exploring more. The entire trip is 69k.

AG Iden
- Open up 03-05 senate meeting minutes, need to strike out motion by Brinderson and Siddiqui about Kamaya Jackson indefinitely tabling her as co-chair of SCORE
- JC adds her as co-chair now
- What this is doing is having her appointment confirmed for 24-25 cycle school year
- Not necessarily confirming her appointment now, up to Metzger to reappoint them
- Not today, can be upcoming meetings
- Agenda itself has multiple discrepancies
- Not considered publicly accessible
- Minute takers had to leave because we were there until 2:30AM
- Open the 03-05 senate minutes
- Strike the motion denying, and then motion to approve, add a statement to agenda
- 76th senate wishes to learn more info from JC regarding what to do further
- Discrepancies on time motion was passed, time it was actually made
- Subject that will require intensive, in person discussion
- Love to see you guys make it happen

Lala
- Love the advice
- Communicated with JC member today about how senate should proceed
- The explanation of what they expect the senate to do
- Would you agree with me that it would be prudent to read it out?

AG Iden
- If you want to, or go read it yourself
- If you'd like to open the ruling and open it

Lala

- Think what we have to focus here first and foremost on is the directive they gave
- Will try to be brief
- I wrote to JC "I have a purely procedural question about enforcing the decision in Kamaya Jackson v. Internal Vice President Pinto case. The decision included the following directive: the JC directs the Senate to reopen the minutes from the March 5th, 2025 Senate meeting and add a motion to accept Kamaya Jackson as co-chair of SCORE. Usually new chair appointments are made for a new term to the letter of intent to the president and finalized by Senate approval. It is worth considering that we extended BCU appointments until the end of the term to facilitate appointments in the face of several delays in the association. If the process remains broadly changed, considering that this appointment was made by the former president and for approval by the 75th Senate, would it be proper to have the appointment be made by President Metzger and sent to the 76th Senate? Where we include it in the agenda. Alternatively, would reopening the March 5th minutes and approving the appointmetnt that way confirm Ms. Jackson as chair for the upcoming term?
- Their response JC: the scope of this case is limited to a harm to Ms. Jackson caused by former IVP Pinto and a procedural error in the March 5th Senate meeting. In an attempt to remedy/limit this harm, the council directs the Senate to reopen the minutes from the meeting where the harm was caused and add the motion. This functions to retroactively appoint Ms. Jackson as co-chair of SCORE from March 5th until the end of the previous term, whenever that is determined to be. However Metzger chooses to proceed in her term is up to her prerogative.

Luken
- Carlson should give input, I'm appealing the chair's decision

Zha
- The member who made the appeal of the chair, briefly states point and we go into an internal vote, majority wins

Lala
- The AG is chief law enforcement officer of organization
- Seek guidance from them
- About appointments, all that stuff, we heard from Metzger
- If Broadway was on floor today, it would be improper but still not as improper as AG

Luken
- Just think former AG would be better to since he was the one in the room

Pascher
- Clarification
- The JC decision, who was the petitioner?

Zha
- Eric Carlson, attorney general, on behalf of Kamaya Jackson, complaint was towards IVP Pinto

Lala
- That directive was given by the 76th senate in order

Zha
- The vote is simply about whether or not to sustain the decision of the chair
- As long as it's majority decision, the decision of the chair will stand
- Vote yes if you think chair's decision should be sustained

Luken
- Does the individual who appealed, myself, have to abstain?

Zha
- In the interest of others, you cannot be forced into parliamentary procedure

Lala
- Is it recommended?

Zha
- I'd have to check

Lala
- There needs to be a second to the appeal

Motion to appeal the decision of the chair.
Luken - Pascher

Pascher
- Seeing as this is an issue of jurisdiction, is it appropriate to invite current AG?

AG Iden
- It's the jury's prerogative on who you want to invite outside the body to speak
- As for my own opinion, I'd want Carlson to speak on it
- Far more aware of the facts of the case
- He prosecuted it himself
- Don't think he can give an actual response to the ruling
- See no issue if you want to invite AG

Lala
- In the appeal process, is it not supposed to be the case of the chair, case of the member who made the appeal, and then a direct vote?

- If that's the case, we've all severely violated
- We should just move right into it

Moved into five minute recess at 12:32AM.

Back from recess at 12:40am.

Pascher rescinds appeal at 12:40AM.

AG Iden
- You all need to abide by JC ruling
- The meeting on March 5th was missed by a lot
- You need to open agenda and strike motion to indefinitely table Jackson as co-chair of SCORE
- Following this, abide by JC ruling, motion to accept Jackson as co-chair as SCORE
- Then, in own agenda, that you wish to receive more guidance from JC in what needs to be done
- This wouldn't essentially appoint Jackson
- This would be up to Metzger

Lala
- Would you agree, with interpretation, that since we extended the appointment of BCU chairs to end of this quarter, Jackson would remain chair until end of this quarter, and then that position would go through the purview of the president?

Iden
- Would still recommend having Metzger appoint her again
- Wouldn't necessarily believe that motion applies to the past
- We're correcting the injustice done to Kamaya Jackson
- We're correcting the record
- Believe president would still have to appoint

Luken
- Could you write down the motions you expect us to make?

AG Iden
- You're going to need a motion to open 03-05 senate agenda
- You're going to need a motion to strike a motion to indefinitely table Kamaya Jackson
- You're going to "motion to add a motion accepting Jackson"
- Following this, close meeting minutes, accept agenda
- In your agenda today, request JC guidance to ameliorate issue, say you intend to do it in person for intensive discussion

Motion to reopen the minutes from the March 5th 2025 meeting.

This motion passed at 12:47AM.

Lala
- Iden, believe we've made it through ⅔ of your requests
- Can you remind me what the third was?

Iden
- Would recommend doing this for both agenda and minutes, even though JC only requests the minutes
- Motion to strike, motion to accept Jackson, close the minutes, open the Senate agenda, strike the motion, motion to add
- Following that, add a statement to current agenda

Motion to approve the agenda of the March 5th 2025 meeting.
Chaudhry - Pascher
Call to question - Than
This motion passed at 12:49am.

Lala
- The highlighted part essentially means meeting agenda?

Zha
- Minutes

Lala
- So both of these can be interpreted as minutes, and the next can be agenda

Zha
- We have to approve the minutes and then close both agenda and minutes
- No clarification here between minutes and agenda

Lala
- Think it's a clerical error

Iden

- So far, you guys opened up the agenda
- You only striked it
- You need to now motion to approve

Lala
- Think we can interpret Chaudhry Pascher motion to mean minutes
- Can we just add minutes at the end?

Zha
- Not allowed

Motion to reconsider previous motion.
Than - Luken
Call to question - Jones
This motion passed at 12:53AM.

Motion to add a motion to approve Kamaya Jackson as co-chair of SCORE.
Claro -

Lala
- Now need the highlighted part since we're reconsidering that motion
- We're not approving Kamaya's appointment from March 5th of the previous Senate?

Iden
- Yes we are
- Open the Mar 5, 2025 minutes
- Strike, then add motion
- And motion to approve the agenda

Lala
- Next thing in line is to approve the appointment?

Iden
- Yes

Motion fails.

Motion to approve Kamaya Jackson as co-chair of SCORE.
Claro - Luken

Luken

- Would it be feasible for us to strike the motion in the minutes, strike the motion in the agenda, accept them in the correct ordinance, and then request the judicial council provides further clarification on the best path forward

Lala
- Either to approve it on the March 5th agenda or our own

Iden
- The only thing you really need to do
- Your statement to judicial council would be on your agenda
- You just need to make the corrective measures within the meeting minutes of March 5th and the agenda of March 5th
- Strike the indefinite tabling
- Then motion to accept Jackson

Sussman
- Where are we in this process, what have we completed?

Iden
- Currently in a motion to add the appointment

Than
- Do we have to amend that to say it's in the March 5th agenda?

Lala
- Seems to be attorney general and parliamentarian's disagreement
- Parliamentarian, either we mark this on March 5th agenda or we do it on our own, or Luken's suggestion, simply asking JC's guidance

Zha
- Definitive solution
- The indefinite tabling is not legal, well within our right to strike it from the minutes
- However, from parliamentary perspective, don't see how we can go back to a meeting that happened two months ago
- Doesn't make sense
- Recommend striking the motion, approve minutes, and then in our own minutes pass a motion to retroactively appoint her as co chair of SCORE

Iden
- JC ruled or directed to motion to accept Kamaya Jackson within those meeting minutes
- I agree, it's convoluted and confusing
- But in this, we need to follow this

Zha

- You can charge what you did as well and request us write as well
- However, inviting us to say our own motion

Lala

- Accepting agenda, minutes of march 5th meeting
- And adding Kamaya Jackson appointment on our meetings agenda
- And also adding request of clarification from JC
- If there's anything they see that's wrong, will remedy that in future meeting

Iden

- You're incorrect that you believe you're going to add it to this agenda
- Senate doesn't have authority to add appointment that President hasn't made
- Just need to follow JC ruling

Lala

- AG. I respect your opinion, the lines do support you interpretation
- Here's where I think we're at
- We have already struck the tabling, we accept that agenda, we accept those minutes, ask for JC clarification, I will take that up myself, act in a meeting soon to come
- Think it'll be clear if communicated properly to JC if this is done in good faith, that we went back into the minutes and tried

Motion fails.

Motion to strike motion to permanently table Kamaya Jackson's appointment indefinitely.
Luken - Chaudhry

Than

- Point of information
- When I first made my motion, I said appointment to SCORE
- My original motion

Lala
- Do we add chair of SCORE or do we add appointment?

Zha
- Think it means same thing

Motion rescinded.

Motion to accept Kamaya Jackson as Chair of the Student Commission on Racial Equity.
Claro -

Lala
- We're on the striking of the motion from the agenda
- Requesting clarification on if we're going back to March 5th agenda, or the 76th senate
- Would invite motion to strike from March 5th agenda

Pascher
- What are we opening ourselves up to if judicial council decides we're not in compliance with their ruling

Lala
- AG wants to do exactly what JC says while we see parliamentary issues with it

Luken
- We should do what Judicial council asked, if we do they cannot take measures against us for not following the directive
- Can remedy procedural issues in the future
- We'll still ask for clarification and further iteration, still be adding appointment
- Think we should proceed with JC

Iden
- We're at the same point we were at

Lala
- Haven't approved honoraria, haven't done several things
- Would accept motions on accepting the agenda

Zha
- Can just leave
- Lost quorum without minute taker
- Our choice to adjourn the meeting

Lala
- Do we motion to adjourn indefinitely

Zha
- It's out of order

Lala
- So we're now open to adjourn?

- On denim day in April we tabled all day with CARE and ucsb panhellicn
- We were talking to students all day, writing messages to survivers
- Writing messages to survivors

Stassy
- We spend the last couple of weeks planning for next year
- 80% of our baord is graduating
- Converting board members, doing interviews
- Thinking of having guest speaker next year, so that will take up a significant amount of our funds
- Next year we are thinking of having Chanel Miller to come to speak
- And then fianlly we strated a partnership with stesa, standing together to end sxual assault
- Educating organziaitons and business downton on how to pour alcohol in a way that is safer

Kayla
- That was a preivous thing that was happening
- So taking it on

Sussman
- This is gonna be a question I ask all BCUs
- For this quarter in total
- Can you give a rough finance estimate on how much you've sopent

Kayla
- $2000-3000
- We've spent around 2k-3k but that is not including funding we gave
- Significant part of our budget gave to stesa
- We've allocated 12k to them
- This whole year
- Additionally

- On event, $2-3k
- Including t-shirts, merch, etc
- $5k

Stassy
- Turnout close to $100-200
- Our rally had about 500 I think
- We had food for 500 and it was all gone

Kayla
- Estimate 500

Stassy
- Healing hike had 30, but we had a cap
- Good turnout overall

Calro
- Thank you for coming trying to work for a legislation take back the night
- Does take back the night have any function that can collect survivor data?
- Provide survivor data

Stassy
- I would go to title IX or CARE
- Depending on the route they wanted to take

Claro
- Does take back the night have peer to peer advising sections
- Not official form
- Some sort of holistic processing

Kayla
- That is part of thriving not just surviving
- They are trained to provide different therapy sessions
- We help fund them
- They work with UCSB students
- CARE also povide numerous differen holistic healing

Stassy
- We are working with our board membvers to have training to do somehting like that
- Our first year back on campus with a full board
- So it has been difficult

Sherkin
- I have one question

- I'm noticing and commanding your collabortion with the women's center
- Wondering if you have rough estimate of the association you have collaborated with
- Any advocacy groups

Kayla
- Including off campus, probably 5-6

Sherkin
- Do you have plans next year to keep working with those associations?
- Or expanding your scope?

Stassy
- Always a goal to expand it
- Very valuable partnerships
- Looking for new perspectives in IV
- Trying to adapt to help students in the best way possible
- Hopefully there will be new perspective from incoming board

Malhis
- Do you have any vacancy on the board?

Stassy
- Going into next year we have 6 vacancies
- Im going aboard the full year
- We have 4 people graduating

Kayla
- We already started recruiting
- All the positions have had numerous applicants
- Not a problem filling them

Malhis
- Do you know what your operating budget was this year?

Kayla
- Have to look at the budget that I made
- I think it was $5k

Malhis
- $5k for the past year?
- How much did you spend this quarter?

Kayla
- We've had issues with filling requsition under the wrong category

- So there was money taking out of operating that didn't mean to
- It's been reallocated to the special projects
- We spent all our operating budget

Malhis
- So you have no rollover?

Kayla
- We have rollover
- I talked to IVP, our rollover request was approved

Harter
- I was wondering if there was a reason why you haven't done more free events
- All the stuff you offer are really good but what about the self-defense class
- That was interesting

Stassy
- That was a scheduling thing
- For this quarter we tried but we are working for next year
- Trying to establish that next year

Harter
- If it means anything it sounds like you are already in process of doing
- That is the goal
- Teaching people how to protect themselves

Stassy
- We are trying to focus on prevention insted of defense. While we do provide those services
- We are trying to target the problem at its root

Harter
- I get that, stuff like the yoga and the hikes, that is not necessarily the root of the program
- Just consider root of the program plus when it occurs

Zha
- I know you have questions, but we have a thousand BCU requests to go through
- Strongly recommend if you have concerns about specific events
- Do that in private

Trans and Queer Commission Quarterly Report

Jerken

- I'd like to preface this by saying I'm not in the BCU. Given the constituents and the amount of students represented, I feel like this would be better in spoken word. I am going to read through some key points and I strongly encourage you guys to read through it on your own time.
- Our organization is for LGBTQIA+ students and the Isla Vista community. The breadth of our work ranges from education and workshops to identity-based group gatherings to large-scale Pride events to funding towards queer and trans projects. Today, we'll be going over all of the amazing work that our commission has been focusing on throughout the quarter!

Activities from this quarter include:

- 4/6-4/12 - PRIDE WEEK! Pride Week is our commission's largest host of events, which happens for the duration of the 2nd week of Spring Quarter. Our theme this year was Pride Across America, so we wanted to compile a group of free events to highlight this theme of national solidarity, geographic and cultural diversity and subcultures, and to recognize
    - 4/6 - Cake Decorating for International Asexuality Day in collaboration with the Resource Center for Sexual and Gender Diversity (RCSGD)
    - 4/6 - Rainbow Roller Skating: free disco-themed roller skating at the Rec Cen
    - 4/6-4/12 - Glass Box Gallery Exhibition - Lavender Coast: TQC's first collaboration and gallery opening with the Glass Box Gallery, highlighting local Santa Barbara queer history such as Aids Walks, TQC history, Queer Student Union and the RCSGD history. Special thanks to the Pacific Pride Foundation, the UCSB Special Research Collection, SB Printer, and the AtlantiQ Collective for helping us put together this exciting week-long exhibition.
    - 4/7 - Jotería: a fun LGBTQIA+ spin on the traditional Mexican board game with prizes
    - 4/7 - Indigenous Two-Spirit Panel: brought in both Indigenous professors and elders to discuss Two-Spirit identity and how they challenge Western conceptions of queerness
    - 4/8 - Voguing Workshop with Nekia Zulu: brought in Nekia, a black trans woman who is renowned in ballroom culture, to teach the basics of the vogue dance style and to teach a little bit about the Black and Latine history of ballroom culture as its own subculture within the queer community
    - 4/9 - Reel Proud Double Feature Movie Night: Love Lies Bleeding (romance and thriller) and Will and Harper (a documentary)
    - 4/10 - Fashion Show: This event took place in the UCEN Hub and featured a local king, as well as students who performed and dressed in their own fashion creations. Students could choose between different categories offered and had the opportunity to walk in each of them. Video by AS Creative Media Unit can be found here.

    - 4/11 - Queer Prom: For queer prom we wanted to create a comfortable prom for queer and trans students to dress comfortably and express themselves freely. There was a dj, photobooth with free prints, photo props, and it took place in the IV Community Center.
    - 4/12 - Queer Fest: We held queer fest in Little Acorn Park and had free sandwiches, live local bands performing, succulent pot painting, tote-bag painting, on campus group tablers, and vendors. This event was a way to uplift queer and trans individuals by giving their band or business a platform, while also creating an exciting community event for UCSB students and the Isla Vista Community. Video by AS Creative Media Unit can be found here.
    - 4/13 - Drag Show with Bob the Drag Queen, Kylie Sonique Love, and local queens who we've had in years past (such as Coco Debauchery, Sanjeev, Lotus) - sold out tickets! Video by AS Creative Media Unit can be found here. Photos for the drag and fashion show can be found here.
    - Other projects we pursued for the duration of Pride Week were distributing free Pride T-shirts and stickers (from High Desert Print Co.), designed by queer artists, and distributing our fourth edition of our Utopia Zine, which features art and poetry submissions from queer students.
- 4/18 - Women Loving Women Speed Dating
- 4/23 - Raise the Bar Town Hall: worked in collaboration with the EVPLA and Standing Together to End Sexual Assault with 62 participants
- 4/24 - TQComm Spring Quarter Town Hall
    - During this event we have a staff member from the RCSGD attend and get the community to gather to discuss resources, feedback, and much more.
- 5/9 - Queer Gardening Hour in collaboration with the Edible Campus Program
- Biweekly Queer Leadership Council Meetings
    - These meetings gather different groups on campus like La Familia De Colores, RCSGD, Drag Club, KESHET, and oSTEM to discuss ways we can help each other out on campus and to foster collaborations between groups.
- 5/19 - Queer Trivia at Woodstocks (likely will become quarterly)
- 5/22 - Bisexual+ Speed Dating
    - Both speed-dating events were successful and we hope to repeat these events in the future!
- 5/23 - Aromantic and Asexual Crafty Community Dinner in collaboration with the RCSGD
- 5/24 - Queer and Trans Freediving and Snorkeling
- 6/1 - Isla Vista Pride!
    - This event includes queer and trans local bands, QT vendors, free catered Naan Stop, a face painter, free t-shirts and stickers, free tie-dyeing, a bouncy house, tablers for on campus resources and clubs, an obstacle course, and miscellaneous arts and crafts. IV Pride is upcoming THIS

SUNDAY in Anisq'Oyo Park from 3-7pm, so tell your friends and try to make it!

- 6/5 - Pride Month Movie Night Celebration in collaboration with IVCRC.
    - Will take place June 5th at 8:30 PM at Anisq'Oyo Park Amphitheater.
- Pride Month light installation in Anisq'Oyo Park's Bridge - up now – go check it out!

Other initiatives include:

- Working on increasing LGBTQIA+ specific resources (pamphlets and info cards) against sexual assault in Santa Barbara bars (for which there is a disproportionate amount of anti-queer violence) in collaboration with STESA and the Pacific Pride Foundation, also did outreach in downtown SB and Isla Vista for queer individuals to spread information on reporting sexual assault and working towards writing policy to make queer populations safer
- Provided support for the RCSGD's annual Trans Week of Visibility programming by helping to table at their resource fair!
- Improving provided information in the Isla Vista Community Services District's vending machines regarding STI and HIV testing kits (likely adding more information to the IVCSD's website) in collaboration with the Pacific Pride Foundation
- Looking into creating an inter-UC coalition with other queer and trans serving organizations across the UC system. We see this initiative as helping us better inform us of what we could be doing better in our programming and resource allocation, as well as support other QT organizations across the UC system who may be struggling and may need more support from a brainstorming and outreach standpoint (not financially).
- Working with Undocumented Student Services in hopes of putting together a $2,000 scholarship for a queer/trans student that is served by USS
- Setting up Pride plans in collaboration with the Pacific Pride Foundation for further programming this upcoming fall for their 50th anniversary

Other updates:

- We've also continued to fund QT initiatives and events which match our mission statement throughout the quarter, specifically granting more funding to the RCSGD, oSTEM, and KESHET.
- Holding elections and deliberating over applicants as we speak!
- (This is a more internal note for the Senate, which is not necessarily related to our BCU report). We've had a few frustrations with both the honoraria and the requisition process. Many of our members had to resubmit the honoraria form despite filling it out on time and retroactively within the allotted time frame. Additionally, our requisitions have taken months at a time to process, forcing us to inadvertently break contracts with the talent we hire for not paying them on time. Many of our commission members have had to wait multiple weeks, if not months, waiting on reimbursement for money they spent out of pocket. One member, for example, had over $1k charged to his BARC account for renting IV Theater for two events when the payment was meant to be fulfilled by Requisitions before his account was ever charged. He still has not been reimbursed, even though the first charge was as early as January or February of this year. In a similar vein, booking Campbell Hall for our annual Drag Show always requires that a commission member's BARC account be charged thousands of dollars in the short time period of when booking opens to when our event takes place. We would appreciate a change in this policy of putting individual students under thousands of dollars of stress, and we ask that student's needs be prioritized in the requisition process. Many of us cannot afford to spend hundreds or thousands of dollars at a time, and Requisitions have grown too unreliable for us to trust that the money will return to either us or the talent that we book. The way it is currently run is incredibly unsustainable. The requisition process must be improved this coming year and should be a priority if BCUs are expected to continue doing the quality of work they achieve.

- That being said, we are incredibly proud of the work that we've done this quarter and are hoping to only continue expanding our reach in the following year. One last reminder: Join us to celebrate the beginning of Pride Month this coming Sunday in Anisq'Oyo Park from 3-7pm for our third annual IV Pride Festival! Thank you for your time.

[SCORE Report]

Pardall Center Governance Board 9:32PM
Hannah Adams
- Thank you for the opportunity to present the spring 2025 quarterly report for the Pardall Center. I am the chair of the Pardall Center governance board. I am proud to share that this quarter has been marked by intentional growth, student centered progress, and meaningful improvement in how we serve the Isla Vista community. This spring our governance board met weekly exceeding the number of required meetings and consistently maintained quorum. We conducted all decision making in alignment with our policies, including proper use of proxy voting. Our discussions were centered in optimizng funding, developing responsive center policies, and expanding programming to bettter support students. One of the most signifcant accomplishments this quarter was th eboard's decision to revisit the facilities plan. After thoughtful deliberation, we rescinded a prior motion to repairthe water dmanage that had been coming up in the winter quarter, and we approved an 80k open purchase order to further address the water damage and other renovation to the space. As well as infrastructure repairs, I will highlight that it is important to have these repairs done and we are in the works of having it completed by the end of summer.

- We have also implemented a new storage and rental policy to make space usage more efficient and equitable. In resposne to increased demand, we have ordered tables and chairs, and made whiteboards available for rental giving students more flexibility and support when using our spaces. In terms of programming, this quarter has been vibrant and intentional. We hosted an IV memorial event to honor community losses offering a spaec for rememberance and healing. During deltopia, the Pardall Center stayed open, and distributed 100+ gallons of water supporting safety and wellbeing. At spring fling we handed out 300 meal tickets so students could enjoy the event without financial burden. We hosted an ongoing STI screen a thon event with the EVPLA office. We organized study jams during both midterms and finals week supporting around 90 students with food and focused academic environment. For wellness, we celebrated earth day with a succulent painting event and hosted other creative activities like scrapbooking and rock painting.
- During dead week this quarter we are partnering with COSWEB to ensure students have nurishing meals during this time. Additionally, we supported AS foodbank grocery potluck to continue our commitment to addressing food insecurity in our community. We distributed 303 blue books and 72 scantrons, reposnding to 83 individual student requests. Our printing services saw 581 student submissions and we processed 30 event space organizations for community use all completely free. We are looking forward to finalizing our renovations by the end of sumemr. We will be open for limited hours in the summer. Our team is actively planning fall 2025 programming with renewed academic support. Thank you and that is my quarterly report.

Wahidullah
- In regards to the summer program, do you have outreach strategies for summer? Just to provide insight to students on campus so they know the programs you are doing

Hannah
- Yes. We are tabling at the arbor during session A and B. We are also going to be providing events as we are working limited hours. We are still going to be open for students and have pop ups coming in. We are going to be actively engaging on our Instragrma for staff members working during the summer.

Sussman

- Your work is phenomenal for students and the community. Do you have any way of measuring metrics of how many students you're serving? If so, what devices are you using?

Hannah

- We don't have a system to count how many students come in during the day. Although we just have a metric system of how we keep track of our systems, like printing requests, snack allocations, event space usage. We set aside a sum of money for a certain amount of snacks, and that is how we keep track.
- We also, every single day, have staff members put a certain amount of snacks and we restock as needed during those hours. That's how we keep track too. We
- We don't have a tracking system to track every student that comes into the space everyday.

Jiang

- Is it possible for you to give us a detailed breakdown between the numbers you gave us earlier? The 46,514 and 80k that you proposed? What is the difference?

Hannah

- Where is the 46k from?

Jiang

- The proposed motion

Hannah

- The 46k was just for the water damage alone. That is what the quote was, but we alos want to include some other renovations like moving the front table towards the right side to increase the space in front for organizations to have their events. We also need to repair the back door. The 80k is including other mini projects like creating a storage shed in the back of the center or increasing fences to be from a certain height to be taller due to the frat behind us. We are going to create a back door. The current one we have right now is beat up.

Claro

- I work with basic needs at UCSB. Thank you for your work. Can you go into more detail about what programs you guys have been collbaing with when it comes to food, housing, and security?

Hannah

- The Food Bank is the main organization we have been in collaboration with. We have a food bank pop up every single day where snacks are being dispensed. We are also in great partnership with the Legal Resource Center and the IV Tenants

Union upsatis. We have our staff as well upstairs. We are actively engaging with them every single day. We get a lot of walk in appointments that just come in and they usually just need help going into the website and booking an appointment. With IVTU, we have tables, they always table in the front and they provide mold test kits. They are all completely free. COSWEB during dead week will be providing meals for students in a grab and go situation.

Malhis
- Can I go back and forth?

Lala
- Yes

Malhis
- Like many other centers I truly appreciate what Pardall Center does. You do a lot and have a huge IV presence. I know you had the Pardall Carnival recently. I know CCO David Jr Sim reported on that event. It was through you guys right? How did you count the amount of people?

Hannah
- The Pardall Carnival is not hosted by the Pardall Center.
- It's hosted by IV community relations. That is a question for David with all the statistics. Pardall Center was open during that day. We are always open just to help the IVCRC members and to be helpful students to use the space. I don't know how many were in attendance.

Malhis
- You said lots of people come for appointments day to day. What do people come for appointments for?

Hannah
- They are very highly confidential for staff members. Most of them are related to landlord or tenant issues. They always want to see the attorney upstairs.

Malhis
- Have you had any vacancies for this year?
- If you guys had vacancies currently, what are you doing to fill them up?

Hannah
- We had 4 spots on the board, a chair, a vice chair, and representatives at large. We had interviews last week and yesterday we had our last board meeting and appointed those individuals.

Sherkin

- It's amazing to see how many people you help. Thanks for the presentation. You said you don't have a metric system. I was wondering if you think you guys would benefit from an association facilitated metric system? Like that way you can see all the people you are giving impact too. I'm still in the early stages, but would that be something of benefit for you?

Hannah

- Yes. We will keep for the next year and even summer keeping track of students and community members that come to the center.

Food Bank Committee Quarterly Report

Commission on Student Well-being Quarterly Report

Speaker 1

- 3/31 - 4/4 Overdose Prevention Week: Co-Chair Le Anh Metzger co-hosted this initiative with Gauchos for Recovery to distribute around 1,000 Overdose Prevention Kits in preparation for Deltopia. They tabled at the Arbor each day distributing kits and providing additional incentives, including Spudnuts Donuts, energy drinks, coupons for IV Drip, safe partying kits, and snacks. They invited PMHC to table and also underwent extensive social media campaigning to raise awareness for this project. $672.53 was spent on this event.
- 4/2 - 5/28 Weekly Pilates Class: Fitness Coordinator Mia Goodreau hosted weekly pilates classes taught by Bre Corbin at the UCen Flying A Studios at 9-9:50 am. There is an average of 30 attendees per week. This costs $185 per class, with a total of $1665 for 9 classes.
- 4/13 - 6/1 Weekly Cycling Class: Fitness Coordinator Katarina Kagan organized a sponsorship of Gaucho Group Cycle Class at the UCSB Recreation Center with 25 participants spots at $102 each. This cost a total of $2,550.00 for 8 classes.
- 4/9 - 5/31 Weekly HIIT Class: Fitness Coordinator Kathryn Duby organized a sponsorship of Gaucho R.E.C. HITT Class at Rob Gym with a total of $6.50 per person at 50 participants. This cost a total of $2,600.00 for 8 classes.
- 5/4 Volunteer Day at the Methodist Community Garden: Outreach Coordinator Lily Strange collaborated with the Edible Campus Program on this volunteer gardening event and provided Spudnuts Donuts for volunteers, which came out to $47.36.
- 5/5 Free Bike Repair Workshop: Outreach Coordinator Lily Strange co-hosted this event with the A.S. Bike Shop to provide basic repair along with bike parts, lights, bells, and other accessories. This event came out to $2,000.72.

- 5/8 Mother's Day Card Making: Co-Chair Le Anh Metzger collaborated with Girl Up on an event to make cards for the 'Lighthouse for Women and Children' homeless shelter in Oxnard. Materials cost $150.
- 5/12 Survive Midterms Collab: Outreach Coordinator Lily Strange collaborated with Old Town Coffee and Warner Bros Ambassadors of SB to host an event at Old Town Coffee Isla Vista. COSWB provided free flowers and stickers for the event which came out to $56.42.
- 5/17 Mental Health First Aid Training: In collaboration with the Public and Mental Health Commission, Mental Health Coordinator Fiona Hosmer-Hughes trained 30 students in mental health first aid.
- 5/20 Stigma Free Tabling: Mental Health Coordinator Fiona Hosmer-Hughes organized a table at Active Minds' mental health awareness event where we gave out treats and tote bags. This cost $100.
- 5/23 COSWB Board Retreat: Vice Chair Gloria Kompel planned a board retreat at Bowlero which cost $519.67. All members and seniors were recognized through our COSWB awards at this event.
- 5/31 Bounce Back Bar: Vice Chair Gloria Kompel is planning a wellness bar providing caffeine, Spudnuts, electrolytes, and other wellness goodies to give out in Isla Vista. The total is around $800.
- 6/4 Spring Finals Essentials Booth: Outreach Coordinator Lily Strange will collaborate with the Public and Mental Health Commission, the Global Gaucho Commission, and the Advocacy Committee to pass out items to approximately 400 students at the Arbor. These items include snacks, drinks, stress toys, scantrons, bluebooks, pens, pencils, and erasers. We are estimating $3,500 for this event, utilizing funds requisitioned to us by the 75th Senate.
- 6/5 Quarterly Petting Zoo: Co-Chairs Vidya Sundaram and Le Anh Metzger will host a petting zoo at the San Nicolas Lawn. This event cost $1269.

Other projects

- External Coordinator Ashna Ahmed sends out a weekly COSWB Newsletter, highlighting our upcoming events as well as events of other groups.
- Publicity Coordinators Mandy Schoen and Thomas Zheng maintain the COSWB Instagram and website, publicizing all events, making infographics, and communicating with other groups.
- Mental Health Coordinator Fiona Hosmer-Hughes serves as COSWB's representative on the Student Mental Health Task Force.
- Vice Chair Gloria Kompel designed and ordered COSWB tote bags to pass out to students on campus.
- Co-Chairs Vidya Sundaram and Le Anh Metzger coordinated with the Liaison Committee to make updates to the COSWB legal code, adding two new positions: Culture & Inclusivity Coordinator, and Community Outreach Coordinator.

- Conducted internal elections for board positions next year; opened applications for vacant positions; heavily publicized application to the student body via emails, social media posts, and tabling; reviewed applications and conducted interviews; voted as a board to fill all vacant positions.
- The Commission tabled at the CAB You Matter and Pardall Carnival events.
- The Commission ordered menstrual products to restock our free menstrual product stations next year (~$9,000).

Claro

- What animals are you goung to have at the petting zoo?

Speaker 1

- Chickens, guinea pigs, tortoises, ducks, goats, bunnies. Come see for yourselves.

Lee

- According to your expenditures, without honoraria, you spent less than 25% of the total budget.
- I was wondering about the 75%, what are you planning to use it for? For rollover or if you were planning to save up for something big?

Speaker 2

- When this report was created, we didn't have menstrual products on there. I am not sure if that percentage also countecd for menstrual prodcuts

Le Anh Metzger

- There is probably about 5-10% left in the budget

Wahidullah

- About the menstrual products station, do you have any information about how often they will be restocked? And where are they located? In regards to your social media, do you know if you're going to provide any info online about where the menstrual products will be on campus?

Speaker 2

- We will definitely be amping up and publizicng that this upcoming year.
- We had problems with that position this year which is why it has been nonexistent. Going into the new year, we just finished recruiting for next year's board. We are definitely discussing that with the new women's health coordinator in place.

Public and Mental Health Commission PMHC Spring Quarter Report
Sydney Yamanishi

- We had honoraria of 17k. We recurited all but 2 positions, we are going to make some legal code changes so we have to do that before we include the positions.
- Otherwise, included a funding request of 17k to miscellaneous.
- I'm more than happy to answer any questions you have

Sussman
- How was your overall turnout?

Sydney Yamanishi
- Pretty good. Our biggest event is the Mental Health Conference and we've had the highest turnout since covid, about 125 people. 125 people attend but that's just who filled out the feedback form so it could be more than that.

Lala
- Sydney, I believe you are graduating this year. As a former senator and head of staff in president's office, I want to commend you for your work

Lobby Corps
Esther Mejia
- Thank you for having us. Congratulations on the elections or getting reelected. I am Esther Mejia, and I am the state and fedal co chair for LobbyCorps. This is my second year in this position and I am here to give an overview of what we have done this quarter and our expenditures, and some of the amazing policy work our students
- To start off this year, we were able to send about 68 students to lobby. We sent 30 students to Sacramento for our annula student lobby conference. This is our conference we do in partnership with the UC student association. The UC student association representats all UC students at the state and federal level. It was an honor to be able to bring 30 students to Sacramental to lobby on issues that deal with students' accessibility to higher education. We lobbied against the 8% cut the UC system is facing from the governor from the state. We are happy to announce that the cut got brought down to 3%. We have been mobilizing students since January to talk to their legislators to oppose the 8% cut so it's great to see the hard work has paid off. At this lobby conference, students had the opportunity to professionally develop themselves and learn how to write policy and how to advocate on beahlf of them. We held a rally in front of the Sacramento capital stpes where we had 4 legislators come out and give words of encouragement to our students. One of the bills we lobbied for was a bill written here by UCSB students, SB98 or Safe Act. The bill mandates schools and institutions of public education to notify their students when ICE or immigration activity is happening on campus. The reason our students here at UCSB wrote that bill was because obviously there have been large attacks on international communities and large attacks on the undocmented communities. UCSB students came together to put that bill together and hold institutions accountable to that. We were able to send students to testify on behalf of that bill and it was able to pass through senate appropriations and judiciary, and now it's on the way to the senate floor in Sacramento. We are excited to see where that bill goes.

- As for what we are doing on the federal side, we sent 28 students to Washington DC to take part in two special UC hill days. The first one, we sent 15 students to UC Hill Day which is the annual lobby conference put on by the UC students assocation at the federal level. This was a very successful conference, it's a 3 day conference. Basically, students did the same thing they did in Sacramento: they lobbied on behalf of federal policies such as protection on the Department of Education. We also lobbied opposing the current Reconcilation Act which is a budget item that is threatening things like Pell Grant, income driven repayment and student loan forgiveness programs. We sent students to the Deparment of Education to give public comments. It was really successful and students felt really empowered. We also had a rally outside the Department of education in hopes of its preservation and we had Senator Schiff there and also 4 congressional members give their support. It was a great opportunity for our students to engage with legislators and share their personal experience with higher education, especially during a political climate where higher education is udner threat. We also had our first inaugural UCSB Hill Day. This is our first individual hill day and it was only UCSB students. We sent around 13 students to meet with federal legislators in Washington DC. I want to give some context on how we pick people. These trips are open to everybody. You don't have to be on our executive team or in LobbyCorp. These are trips that we promote for a very long time. We tell our members about these at the beginning of the year and make sure we send these trips around to students. Also we post on our social media and make sure everyone's aware that they're happening. One of my favorite things about these trips is that we take students that have never traveled before. This year, students came up to me and said how excited they were that they went because it was their first time on a plane.Our lobby trips are something we take pride in because students get a lot from them. Aside from those lobby days, we had transfer student lobby day and latina student lobby day where we sent them to Sacramento. I want to cover our expenditures really quickly. This quarter we have spent 12k of our 35k budget. This was mostly on our lobby trips to Washington DC that were expensive. Most of our budget went to coverage of DC travel, hotel, food, and also we are having a banquet tomorrow. We are going to have assembly member Greg Hart. It's one of the first time's that he is coming back to our campus. If you have any questions about things happening in the senate, we want to invite you so please come. We are going to have good food, we are going to have Elubia's. A bunch of our money also went to that banquet.

Nelson

- I am the co-chair for local affairs. I've been pretty busy with stuff at the state and federal levels. A lot of the stuff happening comes down to us so we have to deal with it. With that being said, we have a lot of things happening at the local level that I want to highlight. In particular, I recently met with Supervisor Capps. It was kind of like a lobby session but more informal. We want to bring more priorities to our nature so that she knows students care about what is going on in the local community. I know it's difficult for people to indicate that they do sometimes. Some things we discussed cinluding the rental inspection program, deltopia, we want to make sure we are inconjunction with EVPLA and UCIV so that groups like that can continue to table. For those who are not aware, there was a single water station within a 3 block radius of Del Playa. The only other water station was all the way at Little Acorn Park. So if you wanted to go from DP to get water, you had to go there or UCIV. That was a long, hard fought battle to get UCIV to table there. I remember meeting with EVPLA Owen to discuss strategy and how we apply public pressure and all that. We are very fortunate it never came down to that but it left a deep impact on us and its something we want to make sure we don't leave our counterparts to deal with.

- In addition to that, we also talk about housing zoning and other cool stuff. We are planning to meet with Spencer Brandt, President of IVCSD. He was sick so he couldn't attend yesterday's meeting but we are looking forward to meeting with him and discussing similar issues. I want to take time to address some things brought up earlier in the meeting. I want to make it clear I do believe that this is part of our mission as the advocacy wing of Associated Students to bring up some concerns around internal matters. Obviously a lot of people who may have had some major takeaways from Charlie Hyu's presentation. I just want to take a moment to address some of the issues raised in that and provide a little bit of context from a BCU perspective. First of all, regarding the lack of transparency.
- I hope it's self-evident that this is not as much of an issue as someone coming in making that claim. Just for starters, we've been sitting here for 3-4 hours to give our presentation. Every single quarter we do this. We are here, and we talk about what we do and make it transparent. In addition to that, we table very frequently. I know this is not something exclusive to us. I know a lot of BCU's spend a lot of time tabling
- I probably have new moles from tabling in the sun. I can tell you right now, we are out there. We have a Senate Liason that meets with us every single time. Mr. Paolo Brinderson was there every single time. Not only that, we also collaborate frwuently with a bunch of organizations. It's probably easier to list organizations that we have collaborated with than those we haven't. We also show up in the Daily Nexus Report. I want to make it clear, the truth is, you cannot excite a student body that simply doesn't care. I know there is a concern about how BCU's operate in a shroud of secrecy. We do our best to reach out to people, every single year, let me make that clear. I've been in this position for two years, I served prior as a labor director. Every single year the executive leadership has time and time again reached out and we don't get a lot of members. We just don't get people that are interested. We've had massive growth in membership and I'm sure you can guess why people have started caring about national politics in recent times.
- I also want to mention a couple of things. The number of BCUs was brought up as a point of contention. We have over 500 RCOs, not all are active, but we have that number. The number itself is not the issue. Having a diverse range and diverse access to different groups is not an inherent problem in itself. The Senate has taken action to reduce redundant organziations, a good example is the mergence of SASA and TBT to form a singular organization. It's not like this problem and people are coming in as bureacrats and drawing paychecks. We come in here every single time to give our presentations and give reports. We spend hours every single week planning activities and sending people on trips to Sacramento and Washington DC and doing a lot of things that our sister BCUs do as well. In my estimation, a lot of people who come in without experience in AS, just looking in from outside perspective, just doing the bare minimum overview are like house cats. They try to pretend to be fiercely indpeennt of a system they neither understan or care or interact with or rely on to function here. For example, after sending people to Sacramento, part of our efforts resulted in the reduction of UC funding being cut from 8 to 3%. If any of you know how big the UC allocation is in CA, you will know that it is well over AS budget, and we did that on a 35k budget this year.

- I want to end this by saying that Ester and I have been here for 2 years, but technically 3 years, 2 on board. There have been a lot of ups and downs and things going on in the senate.At the end of the day, we are here regardless of as elected senators or board chairs, we are here to serve our community and remember to never forget who our commitment is here to, the student body of UCSB. We cannot stand here and bicker about this and just go ahead and not do it. We need to stand here and face uncomfortable truths but we also need to remember that our job is to serve the community. This is my final board report and it's been an honor working with Associated Students, and I say that from the bottom of my heart.

Lala
- I sympathize witht the frustration and I think election results for years now, are a testament to that.

Claro
- Thank you for your efforts.
- I have a few friends who are immigrants here. I mysef am an immigrant, but I have been fortunate enough to go through the legal process. These students lack that avenue. I wanted to ask, have there been any efforts at the federal level? I understand SB98 was more state.

Esther
- There is currently a bill in the house of representatives. Unfortunately, given that the house democratis are in the minority, bills written by democrats are not being passed. There is a bill, but given the political climate, it hasn't passed.

Sussman
- I'm going to break professionalism for a second.
- I commend you both for the service you have done to our students and the nation, but also to our ppl and students in Santa Barbara. Both of you shaped by college trajectory, and that is why I am here today. I did not know how to navigate Associated Students. Thank you for getting me involved in a BCU and state politics. I do have a question but thank you for everything you have done. I also understand the frustration. What, as your 76th Senate, can we do to support this BCU to not only support our students but our nation as well. We have a lot of power to impact you guys as well.

Esther

- It would be helpful if Senators could help promote LobbyCorps and our trips. We have had a bunch of applications in the past. We want to take new students who have never had these opportunities before. We are relying on your power to promote our lobbying events. Another thing I would say at the state and federal level is we submitted a bunch of resolutions. I believe the last senate submitted a bunch of resolutions when the senate supported a bill. AB1160 instituionalized debt and getting you all to support it as well as a Senate and send letters to committees is helpful. Getting you all to officially support our initiatives as a senate and sending letters is something you all can work with in partnership with LobbyCorps. I know Nelson and I did it last year with one of the Senators here, taking stances on bills that have to do with higher education and sending those letters to committees that really matter. We have been in committees where the letters that come in make or break its passing.

Nelson

- On the local side, address apathy. People are going to walk around and take pictures of lampss that aren't working and submit them to the county to get fixed. Local issues are not always pretty. The town hall next week that Paolo's hosting, I do hope everyone who can attend, shows up. We are going on the offensive and dealing with not great landlords who aren't doing right by students.
- Another program I wanted to highlight is 'the wave'. The wave is a new van ride sharing program that was recently launched.
- Now for the first time, you can go from UCSB to the Goleta Amtrak station directly without paying for Lyft. We are really excited to be able to do things like that. Some people do care and put in the effort. Go to these meetings. Show up to events. So few people care about local issues so when people do, your voice is more magnified. Locally, every single person counts. I encourage you as a matter of professional development to join LobbyCorps . It is one of the few organizations on campus that is really transformative. If I came in my first year, I'd be stuttering up here. Part of what helped me grow as a person was being able to learn to speak. I learned to say yes and no. I had the honor of meeting a Republican representative when I was in Washington DC, and a lot of the policies we had, she didn't like. But you have to be there to look these people in the eye and you have to be able to make these asks. It is courage that I encourage all of you to develop. We are open to everyone, everyone is welcome. Join our meetings. I think it's a wonderful opportunity.

Manala
- Thank you for your service
- Can we access your presentation?

Nelson
- We can type it up but right now it's just scribbles.

Lala
- Usually they are speaking
- If you can't, it's not the end of the world

I-4) President's Cabinet Report- Abbey Coleman

Chief Operations Officer Abby Coleman – Strategic Operations Office Quarterly Report

- Good to see some familiar faces and meet some of you guys. My name is Abby. I am the chair of the Strategic Operations Office for Associated Students. I do have a powerpoint, but feel free to bring it up whenever.
- Chair of strategic operations office
- I do have a powerpoint
- A little about the strategic operations office because it's not in the title of what we do, there is a strategic vision plan for Associated students. It is a really long docuemnt with different goals for the association. There are 29 goals that the association has had since 2020, so the past 5 years. We are in the works of creating a new vision plan, which I'll get into in a second. That is one of the main purporses of our office to create and assess that strategic vision plan. With assessment I mean assessing entities, senate legislation, anything you might think of about the association and seeing if it matches or aligns with the values, goals, or anything of associated students. Right now we are fully fledged into making the new strategic vision plan, but more to come on that in a second. What our office does is executive different projects and goals the strategic plan has. One of those was the ipads for equity project we created. I've been in this office for 3 years and in this role for 2 and this project is really important to me and has impacted so many students across UCSB. 2 years ago we were able to get around 30k to get 200 ipads, styluses, chargers, and cases to loan out for low income students. We have got incredible feedback, we've done 2 surveys, one at the end of each year, and the students have not only expressed great gratitude but when you think about how expensive technology is these days and how vital it is to learn for stem or art majors, you realize how important it is. Having the ipad program has given the Basic Needs Technology program a lot more visibility and usage. It has gotten great feedback. We are still building brand awareness and marketing it to people but we have consistently loaned out 180-200 ipads to students every quarter except for summer quarters. With usage from usually 3 different people each quarter and throughout the year, comes some breakage and usage and overall missing pieces. At the end of this year, we have about 10 missing stylusess and 20 missing charges, USBC charges to charge the styluses. I am asking for you guys to motion under action requesting about $700 for the ipads for equity program because we are also hoping to get wireless keyboards fo the ipads which is exciting. I sent IVP Lala a report that was done by the Basic Needs Tech Program and our Offices on price breakdown. Those keyboards will also help people. There are chromebooks available but they run out every quarter so having the keyboards will help students with things like writing essays and not having to go to the library to do so. The Technology Equity Coalition is a great coalition. We are the only students on it. We got to know about the makerspace before they announced it. They ran out of their wifi grant from COVID. They are also trying to get more high technology computers that can do coding software for students who need it for their classes. Those are some things going on in the Technology Equity Coaltion. But yes I am asking for $700 for the ipads for equity program to the strategic operations office for keyboards, and replacements. Usually once a year we try to ask for money to replenish items.

- The big thing we are working on is the new strategic vision plan. CREDO, the consutling firm we hire from extenrally is in Santa Barbara right now. I met with them 10-5 today. We also have a meeting 12-3 tomorrow. I emailed the executives because I did not know what emails you guys have. You are all invited. We are doing this in AS Main. This is your one shot at having your voice heard to create goals for association for the next 5 years so I really highly encourage you to stop by. The people and the consulting firm are great. They are kind and smart. We had good conversations today. Today was just the strategic operations office so we'd love more voices. If you can't make it tomorrow from 12-3 in AS main, we will have a community day where we will invite all of Associated Students, it's right before senate from 5-6, in the ILP. That is where we will be presenting the poential new goals of the strategic vision plan. It'll be like the first draft of the strategic vision plan. We will present it and you guys can give feedback and we can go back and make edits to it so it's exactly what we are looking for. I highly recommend you come tomorrow, at least next week or tomorrow. I know it's a bit last minute. But we are really excited for this and we are inviting students to community day to get student feedback because we want to be student oriented in Associated Students. If you have ever looked at our mission statement, we are tyring to be aligned with that mission statement. I'll send an email later tonight. Please come to our meeting tomororw. AS main, 12-3 with the consulting firm if you want to have any input in the new strategic vision plan. You can come for part of it too, maybe 30 minutes.
- The last thing we worked on which is a sadder thing. I worked with Senator Zha on this for almost about a year, and we got it to the ballot. Its Grammarly for Education. It only received 57% of yes votes and it neded ⅔ majority. Grammarly for Education was a great initiative. It would have given more equity to students in UCSB who come from different backgrounds or internationally because CLAS people cannot do grammar work. For budget and staff and everything. Our budget is only honoraria.

- Budget is onroria
- The only reason we'd have rollover is because people forgot to submit honoraria requests. We did secure 90k for the CREDO consulting firm which you guys were not there for senate deliberations on, but it was the best choice. Other consulting firms were incredibly higher than that price and that is something we have been doing and has been approved by the senate unallocated budget. That is not in our budget because it technically goes straight through to CREDO. We also have no open vacancies but we will at the end of the school year because I am graduting and so are 4 members of our office. We do not currently hold events besides community day. It's our first event we'll ever be holding so that's exciting. Thank you so much.

Claro
- Thank you for your work.
- I work with basic needs and one of the things I distribute is those ipads.
- My main question to you is based on the data. Most people don't look at that and the sustainability of these types of programs. Based on the data, is there an initiative to expand it to more devices than just ipads?

Coleman
- At the Basic needs tech program, there are chromebooks for loans and gifting. There are also the ipads. Right now we do not intend to expand the program on Associated Students. Basic Needs is always in need too, they're always in need of any support and are always looking to help as many people as possible. I know that they are looking for more ocmputers that aren't chromebooks that can deal with heavier software like coding software for different majors. We are looking at keyboards for ipads to expand it that way. Other than that, the Technology Subsisdy Grant where you can get a $500 grant for computers or wifi, you can use that money to get it fixed. They've exhausted all their grants. I'm sure they'd be happy to talk with Associated Students more about different ways technology could be supported. Also my new chair is Naina. She has a midterm tomorrow morning so she couldn't be here, but I can also direct your questions to her.

Malhis
- Thank you for coming. I remember when you said you were going to choose CREDO. I remember that presentation months ago vividly. The new senate emails, it's just senate@ucsb.edu. I think Enri did a good job and I think the Senators are all linked to the new email. You can send information for the meeting tomorrow because I would love to attend and see how it works. What is some of the stuff you guys are planning to do next year in the president's office?

Coleman
- I won't be here next year. The main thing we are planning to do is the strategic vision plan. We are going to be wokring on it through summer. It should be ready the first day of fall quarter. With that being said, some of the big things we are working on is the ipad for equity project. One other thing we have been involved with is the basic needs vending machine. That kind of got tabled because there were not enough funds for it. I would expect we are going to take that back up, like the basic needs vending machine in Pardall Center with things like Narcan and water.

Wahidullah

- Thank you for coming. Super cool presentation For the Ipads for equity program, one thing I had a small concern about is when it comes to broken equipment charges, how do you manage property for that?

Coleman

- That is something we struggled with. The students in the program are low nicome students. If they accidentally lost their pencil, we don't want to charge them that money for an accident, espeically because the only students allowed to get these are low income students. That is why I am coming to you guys for the replacement parts. If they lose an ipad, it's the only thing we charge for. That has not happened yet.

Wahidullah

- What is the thing specifically that you are asking for on action items?

Coleman

- We are requesting $700 for new replaemnt parts, including chargers, styluses, and chargers for actual ipads, as well as, a few wireless keyboards that were the cheapest option. We wanted them to actually work so we are looking through reviews of those as well so students can type on ipads as well.

Jiang

- I have a comment rather than a question. I work as a CLAS tutor.
- The tutors are worrying that the grammarly usage will hinder students' study and will actually hinder student's ability by blindly accepting all suggestions. We prefer them to come to CLAS.

Coleman

- A lot of the things about CLAS are structural or thesis. We talked to CLAS tutors and individuals worried about that specifically. Another thing is that grammarly for education is used in 30k schools. It's in the past and it has proven not to do that. Definitely one of our worries, but I hope that clears that up.

I-5) Executive Director's Report-
Sean Lieberman(11:24PM)

- Giving Marisela's report:
    - Multiple contracts reviewed and competed.
    - Worked with Dean of Students on a variety of issues.
    - Pardall Center lease almost complete. The first right of refusal is on this contract.
    - Lots of paperwork for end of fiscal year.
    - Advising her various entities regarding planning, programming, appointments for next year.
- For me, hit by smaller and smaller capacities, tech director, lots of paperwork
- Various entities regarding planning, programming
- Flying room will be wired for sound next year, let's say a year, maybe more
- Microphone array on ceiling, Owl will be suspended from ceiling and will be 4k
- Mostly I want to talk about plans, questions about directors, managers and staff retreat. During summer, we have time for strategic planning, meetings that happen slightly off campus
- Transparency is the word of the day
- Response to fee presentation given earlier, quite a few inaccuracies
- Not a brag, probably a few people know more about fees than I do
- Been running elections since 2003, I've looked it over and we don't have the highest fees in the system, we're fourth behind Davis, San Diego, Irvine. I wish the state paid more fees towards UC system but they don't, fees increase over the years
- Program board did not get the majority of 2006 student initiative, they got 4 dollars and 50 cents, same year rec sports got 11, student health got 9, bike shop got 4
- Just not the case, many increases since then, but campus and students in general have requested more of them. We do counter programming, not something that campus allowed us to do previously, now they ask us
- Costs hundreds of thousands each time, appreciate the wanting more transparency, but want to put some of that in context
- 2006, base fee being raised, first time since 1977, 30$ increase
- We have food bank, we have finance committee, we didn't give anything out back then
- One for groups, one for services, one for events. We paid for bike paths on campus, the state doesn't do that anymore. The offloading of things to student fees, that sucks, but that is where we're at. Still need to fund the bike path, otherwise, people are going to crash, get hurt more.
- Not just a rubber stamp of approvals each year, it's higher now than it ever has been, you can ask yourself why that is. Previously looked years ago, things were passing with less rates. Didn't have a food bank, now has a food bank that gets

90+ support. Just for the senate, this year, think about student fees with a tighter budget, it's not 8 percent it's 3 percent. Division is still doing a lot of cut backs
- AS will need to take up some of that slack on services
- So many of our BCU groups support student departments. TQC supports RCSGD. TSA supports TSC. With additional cuts, they're going to be looking towards us and student leadership for guidance. When something comes for funding, think about who's affected. Will need to talk about conflict of interest, ethics
- The party system is now back up. Please take care and treat each other well
- Parties can be a good system for getting people involved in elections, that does get more people to vote
- If more people run for office, they have friends
- 2008, 25 people ran for off campus, this year 14. Some years, 85+ ppl ran because of the parties. Aware of factualism of party system, narrative tendencies, I recognize that may come up
- Elections board example "no fair that party has a cute dog, people will vote for them more"
- Goals for this year: Represent new generation
- The only actionable thing I want to bring up that needs to be today. Simple voice vote to say. IV arts is a fee by IHC the department, up for reaffirmation next year
- But they got a campus fee. Got a CEC fee, equivalent, last year. They don't need our fee, they don't want it anymore. Forgot to put it on the ballot this past election to cancel it. Needs to be cancelled. Chancellor will cancel it, but need senate to direct him to cancel it. Doesn't need to be super formal
- I will run it up the chain and then chancellor will nick the fee

Lala
- Know that there's a resolution that can be motioned on
- What do you prefer?

Lieberman
- Anything
- Needs to be tonight

Claro
- Think his point was that the social barriers keep on increasing for students as more student fees are included
- Why is it that students are taking the brunt when there's been cuts to across UC systems
- To me as a student, why am I left with the burden of paying these student fees?

Lieberman
- Because the state doesn't want to

Claro

- Are there any strategies, considering our constituents' interests, in fiduciary duty and maintaining their student fees?

Lieberman
- Additional revenue generation
- Outside sources
- Selling things, alumni, tickets, printing
- That's the only real alternative when the state is not going to pay more

Claro
- Without commodifying UCSB to students, is there any other way?

Lieberman
- Doesn't have to be something you're selling to students, can be alumni
- Sell printing and tickets at a discount, so it's better if they're using alternative

Claro
- Could the lobby corps be used for this uc fuindng

Lieberman
- Yeah
- Student affairs could be used for that sort of thing
- Tax based too

Sussman
- UCSA motivates Lobby Corps initiatives
- Not school based, more UC system wide

Motion to unanimously consent to move into appointments and resignations.
Passed via unanimous consent at 11:39PM.

I-6) Executive Officers' Report -

Le Anh Metzger(11:16PM)
- Wanted to address everyone before school year ends, congrats to everyone and I'm honored to serve you. Look forward to working with you all closely, so many ideas and aspirations, but we may be uncertain in where to start.
- Don't let that get you down, same with me. We can make the changes we want to make.
- Want to take time to introduce myself to you, and goals I have for next year
- Le Anh, she/her, third year global studies, communications, Spanish, from Orange county, grew up near DC, high school in Pasadena

- Daughter and granddaughter of Vietnamese refugees, plan on working in refugee advocacy, nutrition coordinator in COSWB was my start. Hosted events, collabed with other groups, honored to serve as chair and vice chair of COSWB
- OD prevention projects, Narcan into all university housing, publicity coordinator for IVP, executive assistant in president's office, BCU background, fresh perspective into this role, new wave of AS communication, collaboration, and unity
- All have same goal
- Let's work together to expand efficiency, let's help them afford grocery, let's make housing safer. Increase access to mental health support. Let's make bike lanes and streets safer. We can and will. Increase transparency and outreach of this association. I know event planning and social media. Let's make resources, RCO funding, accessible and understandable. Need to meet students where they're at.
- In my experience, just need to put in effort with students. Tabling, hosting events, free food. These positions are honors and privileges, can be taken away. Been granted this responsibility by students, owe it to them. Urge you to take initiative. Make a game plan. Work together. Don't be afraid to ask for help when you need it
- I'll be your resource, teammate, and cheerleader. Be mine too.
- Ecstatic to be your president, work starts now

Luken
- Really excited
- What do you intend to specifically do with senate in the incoming year
- In terms of projects
- Two, increasing transparency in student body

President Metzger
- In terms of projects, still working on it. Will include projects about food, housing safety, mental helath. This summer, doing outreach to relevant BCU and making project plan. Would also include working with senate
- Be able to reach out once I have more specific info
- In regards to transparency and visibility, online presence. We have a big gap, working with CMU more closely to improve our AS websites
- Going to encourage you all to host events to reach students, rather than perhaps expecting them to come to senate. In the past, there have been town halls, Tthe only one I've been here for has had very low attendance, would like to work on that with y'all.
- Tabled at Pardall Carnival this quarter, ton of students came and were interested, they just stay and listen to what you do. Great opportunity, just to explain what senate is. Considering the outreach committee presentation, there's a lack of awareness about AS and senate . Literally just going out, tabling, getting free donuts. This is what we do, make your voice heard in this way. Simple as that

L) Discussion Items

M) Appointments and Resignations

Zha
- My only point is that if we vote of senate appointments, the senate who added it has to recuse themselves
- If we bundle and approve everything, we have to recuse themselves

Lala
- Maybe we can bundle and approve all appointments and then for senator appointments can go through individually
- Just individuals recusing themselves instead of half the body

Pascher
- I recuse myself from all transfer student appointments, conflict of interest
- Like to motion to not have that bundled in

Lala
- Any others?

Luken
- Would recommend we do senate leadership appointments first, easier for everyone to abstain, individual senate committees next, and then bundle and approve all remaining appointments
- No confusion, motions are easier to make

Lala
- Let’s go individually through senate ones

Motion to add the appointment of Caleb Hanson as Chair, Ihita Varada as Vice Chair, Sophia Yu as At-Large Representative, Deepthy Mukkara as At-Large Representative, Lexie Carlucci as At-Large Representative for election board and Taylor Iden as Attorney General to the agenda from President Le Anh Metzger.
