Senate Agenda 6/4
Associated Students UCSB 76th Senate

Zoom Link

Minutes/Actions recorded by: Liliana Dritz and Melina Magno. CALL TO ORDER by Enri Lala, Internal Vice President at 6:31PM.
This meeting was called to order at 6:31 pm in the Flying A Room by Internal Vice President Lala.

A) MEETING BUSINESS

"Before we begin, we call for students to acknowledge that the lands that the University of California locations were built upon were expropriated & founded upon exclusions and erasures of Indigenous people's human rights throughout California. UCSB is built on Chumash Land, specifically that of the non-federally recognized Barbareno tribe. As an association that pushes the student bodies' voices to the forefront, we should aim to make strides past just acknowledgment to those who continue to fight for their right to be recognized & respected as the original stewards of this land. I ask you all to dedicate time & care to personal education & to advocate for justice alongside Indigenous peoples."

The Legislative Tracker Act
Harter - Wahidullah

Harter

- Thank you for all in attendance including staff members, executives, senators, etc. This is the Legislative Tracker Act. Basically the purpose of this act is to make it a requirement for current and future senators to use a legislative. This is advantageous for a plurality of reasons, principally transparency. We have a duty and obligation, according to our bylaws and according to the Student Bill of Rights, to be transparent to our constituents. And as per Charles Hyu's presentation and according to outreach data and a variety of different sources, transparency is obviously an issue that has arisen on multiple occasions. And so in theory, this legislative tracker will increase transparency because all the students and BCU's will have access to the tracker. That is obviously advantageous because some of the legislation will be in regards to students and BCUs. Not only is transparency a key feature of this, it's very useful for simply organization, organizing your thoughts. If you take a look at the tracker, which the link is included in the GroupMe and I can also email it to everyone, the format is designed such that you can list people that are potential stakeholders, you can list the time, or add notes for yourself. It's a mechanism for organization and transparency all built into one. And for that reason, I think that it should be made a requirement for all senators to use it.

Wahidullah

- I think that Senator Harter already touched on a lot of the sentiments I wanted to touch on. From my personal experience with the senate, we had similar forms with smaller models of legislation and track records from before but it wasn't as much of the powerful standard or to the extent the legislative tracker has right now. I think that because this is specifically a great initiative, not only to expand it to the senate body but to the student body itself, you see not only what the senators are doing but just collaboration in general to communication, and initiating legislation with one another and have more transparency and advocacy as well. And the advocacy for students, that organizations might be interested in the senators are doing, is helped with this tracker. Overall, it creates beneficiaries all over the association.

Sussman

- I'll be brief for the sake of time, but thank you both for doing this act. It not only helps my role as pro temp but helps us as an association keep each other accountable so I am a huge proponent of this act.

Sherkin

- This is amazing. I was just wondering if there is any plan to maybe move to another format if it is deemed necessary? Like let's say there are a lot of things on there and we need another platform.

Harter

- Currently I built this legislative tracker over the course of 3-4 hrs on Saturday and in that time I was able to add about 1,000 lines of legislation. That can be increased in the future. However, you do make a good point that Google Docs, Google Sheets rather, the platform that I developed it on, looks a little unappealing. There is potential to transfer it to a different platform. I haven't explored that yet. As of right now, this tracker will last us easily for another 1,000 pieces of legislation.

Wahidullah

- The purpose of the tracker is not regards to the format. They are defined by the purpose of a shared system to track progress, and to assist the student body. Whatever works best and will make the tracker successful.

Luken

- Point of order.
- When a senator is talking, can we all please be respectful

Lala

- You are completely right. I was just pointing out, because we are all learning in this role, and this might be one of the first pieces of bills which have a different format than just resolutions. The part in black is existing, section 4 duties and powers under article 6 are not being added on. The part that's being added on is in red. So if it's nust black with no other additions whatsoever, that's the existing legal code. If there is a strikethrough in it, that's being removed. If there's red, it's being added on. That is the format we are functioning off of as a senate.
- through in it, its removed
- Red is being added

Wahidullah

- Point of order. Are you redefining it in regards to format?

Lala

- Yeah it was not a response to your, just thought it might be worth adding. Sorry.

Zha

- The chair has to rule on the point of order.

Wahidullah

- Why do i have to rescind my point of point of order

Zha

- If you don't rescind your point of order, the chair has the duty to rule on the point of order.

Wahidullah

- I rescind my point of order.

Luken

- I really love this idea. I think it's great for transparency. I want to remind everyone that it is a bill that would change legal code, so no matter what this is going to get tabled for at least a week as per legal code.

Lala

- It would be my recommendation, and it is ultimately the Senate's decision that this might be best tabled to the senate executive committee, which already has several things to deal with , and it doesn't seem an exact fit for any of the other four standing committees, and it be might use the lines and growing experiences of all four committees

Zha

- Sorry but the executive committee and the committee that will vote cannot take out any legislation.

Harter

- Point of information. Can you clarify why maybe it would be the senate executive committee? What was the reasoning for that?

Lala

- I was completely wrong. My reasoning was the executive committees is the sort of gathering place where the committees gather and can add their expertise on what they are dealing with in their separate committees but just no legislation, that's the legal code. Scratch that, just find whichever committee it makes most sense to be in.

Harter

- Considering the contents of the bill and the purpose of the bill, may I suggest that we table this either to the liaison committee or the outreach committee, one of the two. However, being a member of the outreach committee or something of that nature

Lala

- No

Harter

I understand.

Motion to refer the legislative tracker act to outreach committee
Luken-

Lala

- I'm not overruling it at all. I'm just saying, just as a suggestion that it might make more sense, since its more internal to be recipient liaison

Zha

- Point of order

Lala

- You can't make points of order but I will take your suggestion

Zha

- Parliamentarian's can make points of order. There are multiple precedents from multiple senates

Luken

- Point of order. Precedent does not mean the parliamentarian can make points or order

Lala

- Okay, okay, I will take your suggestion as my Parliamentarian, please do speak.

Zha

- Thank you. According to standing rules adopted by the senate ,legislation must be referred to a closely related committee, and outreach does seem to be the case in this designation.

Lala

- That's kind of what I was saying. Since it seems to be dealing with the internal functions of the Senate and how it relates to the association, it might make more sense for liaison. Do you think?

Luken

- Yes. That's a completely subjective line so I appreciate the suggestion, but it's completely up to the discretion of the Senate, who the committee that is most closely aligned with is according to standing rules.

Motion rescinded

Harter

- Point of information. The bill can be reasonably observed by the outreach and liaison committee. Is this correct?

Lala

- You are both great debaters. We have an hour and 30 minutes left and several agenda items. Are we in agreement with liaison? Sure, you could find some twist that both would adapt to it. It seems like liaison is best for it. Are we okay with submitting liaison?

Wahidullah

- Point of information. Could we have a brief discussion of this?

Zha

- Point of order.

Harter

- Point of order.

Lala

- Okay there's 5 points of order's flying. As a parliamentarian you don't make points of order. You can speak to me individually. What's the matter or concession here? I don't understand.

Zha

- There have been many points of information made in this meeting and those are not points of information. Those are debates, not points of information.

Lala

- We should keep a closer comment on that. Was that your point?

Zha

- Yes

Lala
- Can you re forward it to me

Wahiduallah
- Yes, I'm working on it right now

Zha
- I suggest we deal with other parts of the agenda items first while we are waiting on the legislation.

Unanimous consent to move into action items
(Interrupted by points of order- remained in New Business)

Luken
- Point of order. I think there's a motion on the floor.

Zha
- Point of order. From all the legal code and the precedent, there is nothing that says the parliamentarian cannot make a point of order. First, there have been many examples that show that we are entitled to make points of order. Second, this senate has been repeating the mistakes of the last senate to see themselves as the sole interpreter and to refuse to take any outside accountability. That exact practice led the last senate to the judicial council. Do whatever you must, however as my duty as Parliamentarian, I have a duty to resign. I make my case ifI believe there is a serious breach upon parliamentary behavior, I file a Judicial Council case.

Lala
- I appreciate that everyone is quite passionate about this. What are we so passionate about? We are dealing with the most procedural nonsense that I have seen in quite a long time. Can we get through this a little bit more calmly please? Where were we? We'll give the senator 2 minutes to send it over. Did you get a chance to send it over?

Wahidullah
- Yes

Lala

- Thank you so much.
- This is new business correct?

Wahidullah

- Yes

Luken

- Point of information. Is the parliamentarian considered a member of the assembly?

Lala

- Overruled.

Luken

- What do you mean? It's a question

Lala

- Overruled

Luken

- Appeal

Lala

- The parliamentarian serves under the IVP and is crucial in the philosophical sense, if that's what you are interested in since this seems to be the best avenue for addressing it. They have been crucial to this senate and the last one in learning what to do. You know that I respect you very much but you have about a week of experience as a senator, maybe a little more. He is 3 years old. I have about 2 weeks of experience being Vice President. Let's give each other some grace and respect. Let's move on please.

Malhis

- Point of information . I believe that since we are all new senators, I suggest you guys have more patience with us to make mistakes and we can learn from them. I feel like we are being suggested to do things rather than given the time to learn.
- More suggestion than time to learn

Lala

- I don't know how that's a point of information.
- Would someone like to make a motion to refer this resolution to the finance committee?

Motion to approve the $250 start-up fund for the Arab Student Group for FY2026

Malhis
- We were asking for the $250 start up specifically so that we can fund our event that happened last Friday. If it gets pushed to fiscal year 2026, wouldn't it be easier if it was 2025?
- If it gets pushed to fiscal year 2026
- Wouldn't it be easier to 2025

Lala
- You said it was for an event from last Friday?

Malhis
- Technically is $250 start up fun. We wanted to use this $250 money for food for an event that happened last Friday. If it gets pushed to fiscal year 2026, then the organization would have to make a retroactive request. They wanted the money as soon as possible.

Lala
- The language on here is guidance on how to make the motion, it's not the official motion.
- Micheal told me it would be in 2026. Maybe he misunderstood the request as I did. Let's say we move this to FY 2025, would it be able to cover an event that already happened. Is Vincent or Michael on zoom? No?

Zha

- Since the event already happened, there might be a need for a retroactive funding exception.

Lala

- Take a point of personal privilege.

Motion to suspend ASUCSB Legal Code article VI, Legislative Committee ,section 11 sub section B clause 1&2 and sub section C and all other provisions under the same section concerning Senate Finance Committee co-chairship and authorize the Internal Vice President to appoint a provisional Chair from the membership of the senate thereof and Vice Chair from the student body until the conclusion of summer quarter due to imminent legislation amending said positions.
Chaudhry- Claro
Called to question- Than
This motion passed at 9:38PM

Lala

- I'll just give some background on this one. All the other committees have chairs and vice chairs except the finance committee which has been internal and external. In my estimation, and that of the parliamentarian, it's kind of out of whack. It's not in keeping with the remainder of the committees and the association's functions. This motion would facilitate the kind of the committee that would be standardized with its sister standing committees, and a part of that would be to let the Vice Chair be a non senator as a long standing precedent of the finance committee to be able to run the internals, and the chair to be a senator. We tried the chair not being a senator a few years ago and they just stopped communicating because this person would not come to the senate. So this is in my experience, and the experience of voluntarily arranging the finance committee. I welcome discussion or motions.

Sussman

- Just for discussion, a part of a project I am working on, and a lot of other senators are too, is just continuity in legal code. This motion does exactly that. It's just key continuity and chairs names are the same throughout legal code.

Luken

- What motion are we talking about? We can't see it

Lala

- Apologies. There it is. This is basically what would happen with the bill: standardize senate finance committee leadership. We thought it improper to vote on something introduced by legal vote. This would be the best way of amending that so the legal code remedies its fruition.

HIP Proposal - Black Heritage Cultural Experience

REVISED AND FINAL Black Heritage Cultural Experience Report.pdf

Motion to approve $25,000 from SEAL Fall quarter fund for Black Heritage Cultural Experience under the authority of the Senate and on behalf of Senate Finance Committee
Chaudry- Jones
Called to question- Claro
This motion passed at 9:39PM

Lala
- Proxy Butler. Is this old? And we shouldn't deal with this, we should table to the finance committee correct?

Butler
- No, not necessarily. The resolution is not allocating any funding. It's just creating a partnership.

Lala
- Okay so you want to do both? The executive director and refer to finance?

Butler
- No I want that motion to be made

Luken
- When we move funds, there are account numbers and stuff. I'm just trying to understand.

Lala
- This isn't a move of funds. The seal account under finance is a gigantic one through which we fund all kinds of seal organizations, from academic teams, cultural, you name it. And this would approve $25,000 for the Black Heritage CUltural Experience from said fund.

Luken
- So it would get taken out at a later date?

Lala
- It would approve it so they can go and have the receipts and copies later on.

Chaudhry-
Motion rescinded

Ly
- Point of information. Is it 60 cents and 50 cents or 5 and 6 cents?

Lala
- It's 50 and 60 cents. This is retroactive.

Sherkin
- When they explained the event and spoke, they said it was retroactive

Harter
- Out of respect for senators, allow them to finish speaking

Sherkin
- Remember them specifically saying it was a retroactive situation

Lala
- So they said it was retroactive
- Shaun, do we have to do that, or do the thing that Iden was talking about voting on behalf of the finance committee.?

Shaun
- Normally the finance committee does this, so you're stepping into that.

Lala
- He said it should be specifically in the motion language

Shaun
- Yeah. This feels like something finance committee would do
- Add that language to the end of it to do this retroactively. That would cover bases

Lala
- I would advise to add the adverb retroactively before reallocating it and do it on behalf of the finance committee at the very end of the motion language.

Motion to retroactively reallocate $2,514.96 from line item Transportation to line item Classroom Tech, $278.6 from line item Transportation to line item CSO, and reallocate $3,262.5 from line item Super Cuca's to Chiltepin Mexican Grill for El Congreso de UCSB's Latinx College Day on May 26th, 2025 on behalf of senate finance committee and grant them an exception.

Luken

This motion passed at 9:56PM

Lala
- This was a memo of understanding between the Senate Finance Committee and Gaucho Racing which builds eclectic cars and has them compete in prestigious competitions. This is an addendum so they are essentially adding onto it.

Butler
- I had a discussion I wanted to add on behalf of the senator I am proxying for.

Lala
- I am blanking on procedure here

Butler
- You ask the person if they rescind their call to question.

Lala
- Okay

Butler
- Speaking on behalf of Senator Pascher. This MOU is incomplete. A major element of any event feasibility is where it's happening. Leaving the location as TBD

undercuts the purpose of the addendum as a concrete commitment. If this were to be voted on now, it essentially approved the schedule without knowing where it happened. The addendum is dated to finalize plans for May 31, 2025 but today is already June 4, 2025. Has the event already happened? If this is being voted on after the event date, that raises procedural and transparency concerns.

Zha

- Just for context, the MOU was sent to the senate months ago. It was under agendas series ago. It just now seems the time to go over it.

Lala

- If your concerns are valid, but it seems like it's just a miscommunication of like, seeing this weeks later and be like, what's going on here? And they probably just submitted this and went along with their lives and not update the location

Butler

- Concerns were clarified. Thank you.

Butler

- On behalf of Senator Pascher, I would appreciate a hand vote.

Lala

- Fine with me. He stays with his call to question, right Parliamentarian.

Zha

- If they proxy only objects to consent, we move straight to the vote.

Lala

- You only objected to consent so straight to handvote.
- A yes vote approves the addendum as is and in this long ranging arrangement the Senate has with Gaucho Racing
- A no vote against it would not approve it and we'd have to find another way to deal with it.
- Let's redo it once. Motion fails right?

Zha

- No

Lala

- Is it a simple majority of the membership or who is here?

Zha

- For MOU, I don't think there are specific voting structures and thresholds in the legal code. In the lack thereof, according to standing rules, abstention does not count towards thresholds so it passes.

Claro

- Point of information. Why is the proxy present if the senator is on zoom?

Butler

- I believe she is just driving.

Zha

- If the senator expresses they want a proxy, then the proxy acts on behalf of the senator unless the senator wants to be voting for themselves.

Lala

- So we are a function of the simple majority of the membership present, not the total membership?

Zha

- Yes

Lala

- Why?

Zha

- That is the way a simple majority is determined. Unless other specifics are said, it's always the simple majority of the membership.

Lala

- You are going to hear about this from Iden tomorrow morning, I guarantee you about it

Harter

- Point of order. We have more hands. Can we recognize it?

Wahidullah

- Holly is raising her hand

Holly

- I'm looking at the legal code right now. It's for just generally funding requests right?

Lala

- Its an MOU

Holly

- The different sections that are listed for voting threshold are things like legislation, funding, or appointments. We may try to consider this similar to a contract so this may be things like contractual pieces of legislation. That's up to you all if you decide if it falls under that threshold. It's sort of a contract. Contracts do require a higher voting threshold though so if you decide that, it's going to be a ¾ vote. It's up to you all

Lala

- I explicitly remember our Interim Executive Director specifically telling Gaucho Racing an MOU is not a contract.

Shaun

- Correct. It's not a contract. If you don't have guidance for an MOU, you should adopt some guidance, like put it somewhere. Figure out what you are interpreting it as.

Lala

- I'll accept the interpretation of the parliamentarian.

Luken

- Point of info. Can we discuss it before a second?

Lala

- Well you need a second so the Senate knows there is enough support to even discuss.

Luken

- I am unsure what is going on with retroactive funding. I was under the impression we didn't do that, or I just could not know, or that it was under extreme circumstances only.
- We have been doing this the entire night and I would like some clarification because it seems improper

Malhis

- Since it's the end of the year, we are in a grey area where the finance committee isn't meeting anymore so that is why there are many requests happening today.
- We are retroactively funding the Arab Student Group $250 because they had an event that happened in the past and their members used their pocket money to pay for food for the event. We are retroactively funding them so they can get their money back for that event

- Finance committee hasn't met for weeks so this is a period of grace. This is a time of giving grace where grace is needed.

Luken

- So I'm curious. So in the fall will we shy away from retroactive requests? Like in the fall we go through proper channels, but right now those channels just do not exist. Is that accurate?

Lala

- We usually do not approve retroactive requests but I'm not exactly clear on the policies that are gone there. Parliamentarian?

Zha

- There is nothing in the policy that allows the senate to approve retroactively.
- With that said, its finance committee that deliberates funding requests unless they come to senate and is urgent, the senate will deal with it such as individual funding requests.

Lala

- I think the question remains, what is the procedure for the finance committee itself?
- Under what circumstances do they approve retroactive requests?

Zha

- Finance committee will say that every organization gets one policy exception per school year for retroactive funding. We allow that.

Point of info
- Did we release spring 2025 honoraria?

Lala

Ly

Ly

- If we release spring 2025 honoraria total

Zha

- We can't release the total because we haven't calculated that yet.

- Over the last two weeks, we have been hosting, I believe, around 17 hours of meetings to discuss and give out our recommendations for both the spring and winter honoraria. In short, in both of those annual cycles, we applied a certain matrix for giving out our honoraria. If I go inside some context about the official honoraria guideline. So in the official honoraria guideline, a BCo office has unreal right 60% for attending to the legal code dualities, 20% for meeting with people when requested, and 20% for attending meetings will have been very understanding given out situation involving honoraria
- You'll say that for public officers, we adopted a two tier system for meeting attendance, and did not not fill it outWhat that means is that if someone meets a meeting to face 1.2% reduction in honoraria. If it meets three or four meetings, it will also face a 1.2% reduction in honoraria. That's about, I believe, $4 or so. So essentially, everyone gets nearly $400 for honoraria.
- For chairs the situation is slightly different. have a responsibility to submit a shared evaluation to the committee, essentially telling us how much unreal activation automobiles receive, and without it, it's really hard for us to do our job.

So for all the shared intervention funds, there's a $20 flat reduction to their annual file signatures.

- There are also retroactive honoraria One thing to be noted, though, that during the spring quarter evolution cycle, the chair of the Senate and the president had made repeat the reminder of cemented shares valuation fund, but still the multiple share which announcement so for the spring quarter, a lack of chairs valuation fund one means a flat $50 Other than that, there are also outside official awards that will be reflected there. Since there is actually outstanding awards spring for the report on the agenda and the program trading server, I'm sure I'll give you a full description of that to welcome, to, I welcome any questions under,

Vincent

- t So what I asked, if the Senate is, you know, you may have gone into this, especially Enri, thinking that you're going to prove a set number. And so what I can provide to you, I've been working on cleaning up the data. You know, one of the things that Enri and I talked about is there is the form that students submit, but the way in which the data gets spit out actually slows down the process for financial operations, the department a in as which steps in after the the committee that Minjun just talked about finishes their review. So our role in it, in finops, is not review. It's not the collection of data. It's the cleanup of the data once it's reviewed, and then processing of the journal.
- This is how funds move around the university, and once a journal is completed, checks get cut. Okay. Now, put an asterisk there, because they think it's still a TBD on whether or not we're doing checks or bark deposits, but, you know, we issue payment right now I'm cleaning up. I'm nearing the cleanup of the spring 25 data.
- So for the new senators, and really for the old Senators here, this fiscal year that I'm talking about is fiscal year 25, fiscal year 2026 begins on July 1, 2025 so the fiscal year will end in approximately 26 days
- Within fiscal year 25 only two quarters of honoraria have really been approved and paid out summer and fall. So right now I'm working on spring. What I ask of the senators is to give Enri, Holly, I don't know if this is doable, but it would make our lives much easier to process and effectively clean things through. Is a blanket statement, or, I don't know, resolution giving financial operations, the well wishes to just go through things, validate things correctly, and issue payment where we see, uh, it follows with the legal code. Does that make sense to everybody?
- If you want specific numbers on where we're at right now, I can provide them right now for retroactive and this is just based on the numbers that have been provided to us retroactive honoraria for spring 25 so that means anything submitted by BCU members because they missed submitting Their honorarIA in a past quarter, we're at $41,206.40 so the Senate in the spring comes out to around 8500 and BCU officers are clocking in a little over 86,160
- Okay, so that's payroll, essentially, for everybody. Now we still need to do another validation step. So my point with this is that those are where the numbers are at. Now we imagine that they'll go down slightly once we start cleaning some more stuff up. The one category that I missed was the chairs. The chairs include the chairs of the BCU and the vice chairs and the chiefs of staff that comes out right now to around 29,150 any questions on the amounts,

Lala

- Vincent, essentially, what you would benefit most from is a motion. I mean, for time's sake, probably emotion granting the financial operations team the ability to check the winter and spring honoraria and to clean up that data, to check for any duplicates and to make sure that all corresponds with legal companies that legal companies that about right

Vincent

- Whatever amount we come up with we'll present to the Enri and honoraria committee. Right now it wouldn't exceed 127k. Just running payroll validation part
- This is just for spring
- I'll also ask same thing for winter

Than

- You just said that we are talking about spring?

Jones

- I rescind my motion

Vincent

- I'm confused on what we are voting on

Lala

- Let’s cover outstanding BCU award first

Vincent

- My question with outstanding BCU, even though it's an initiative by the president , it's paid out of the senate unallocated?

Zha

- Yes, paid by senator unallocated account

Vincent

- I know we had a separate email thread about this regarding CFF. So in the agenda right now, the language is how it's written to cover a deficit. So let me give you an example with CFF. CFF, the community financial fund, won the Outstanding BCU awards, or one of them
- for payroll to run with that award included. CFF is awarded, then from the Senate, unallocated, $3,600 but the amount here, I think, is 3150 so Minjun, did you write these motions? Or who wrote these motions?

Zha'

- I proposed these motions

Vincent

- I'd advise to go to a higher amount and some guidance of taking money out of undesignated since unallocated might run out of money

Than

- Point of order the motion is incorrect
- It is the isla vista tenant union who is supposed to win

Vincent

- I was using the community financial as an example

Than

- It's on the agenda on the to be approved
- Its wrong on the agenda

Lala

- I think your right that marginalized community one but we are referring to the one below
- These are proposed motions right?

Zha

- Yes

Lala

- So we can correct them
- But we have to go through outstanding bcu first

Vincent

- Where is the money coming from?

Zha

- original language said senate

Vincent

- We should motion to take money out of senate undesignated

Lala

- Let’s approve and then move to them individuals

Than

- If everyone could pull it up if they want. So there was just for a quick summary, you can look through it. I read it. There are seven applicants, which is a growth from the five from the beginning. You can look at why the people won, and if you have any, if we could discuss it later, but you can go ahead and read the report. I just wanted to focus on areas of improvement, because noticeably, only seven people approve, and there are 40 Bcus.
- And I would really urge the Senate to be able to market this award so that appropriate BCUs who do a lot of good work and do a lot of hard work and also establish a good relationship with the BCU This is that definitely be an avenue for us just to, yeah, first steps in seeking support from a staff, advisors, advisors, better promotional strategy and expanding the award Team. Because as of right now, I think there's two people in the award team. One is including me, which I have to step back, as my role as a senator doesn't allow me to legally be in it.
- So that's all. That's my report. So yeah, sorry, the previous President nominated UCIV to the student well being subcategory for the professional academic development subcategory, the investment advisory committee and for the representation to marginalized communities said subcategory, the Isla Vista tenant union.

[Debate Time Per Item- 15 Minutes]

A Resolution Reaffirming the Senate's Commitment to the Michael Ma Service to Economics Students Act

Luken - Hepburn

7:25pm

Luken

- This was passed by Senators Lala and Iden in the past Senate. It's a project that's going to be longer term. All this does is direct Sean, interim director or interim Executive Director, as well as Michael, who's the Associate Director of Finance and Budget, to look into this. And again, what that really means is just putting it on their radar and making sure that there's something official so that they are involved with the project and to speak to the project itself. Senator Hepburn will have a lot more details to provide right now.

Hepburn

- So it's basically trying to get Bloomberg terminals, or UCSB, that is a financial license. It's the top tier in the entire world of financial licenses. They're very expensive, but Bloomberg gives a university discount, so we can get 12 licenses for $70,000 sounds expensive, but this is the very, very best, and that's at an extreme discount.
- And our goal is the fact that over 700 universities already have these as part of their programs, and that's back in 2015 the most recent number I got. I'm sure more have it now. It's a key part of financial education, and really, really helps students wanting to go into finance or markets or any kind of that realm as a whole.
- It's a huge resume point and huge education point. And I think UCSB being even more up and coming, but already, a pretty prestigious school should go in this direction. We're slowly increasing our ability for finance through the strategic investment program, Dean's Investment Group and all these programs, and we want to collaborate on getting funding from different ones to get these Bloomberg terminals. Now this resolution, as though it was saying, is a little softer. It's not saying we're granting 70,000 right now. It's giving us the authority and putting it on radar so that we can talk to these groups and say, hey, there is Senate backing for this, and then we're no and I are going to work together on funding to try and get this funded from a variety of groups who would be interested in having

- This means a lot to me

Sussman

- I was here for the meeting where this res was introduced
- The backstory I highly recommend you ask Enri or do your due diligence and read about it

Jiang
- Clarification. Does this mean we partially fund it or what?

Luken

- Our goal is to get elsewhere funding
- It is not gonna be all of us funding it ‘
- Absolutely not.

Lala
- I'd be careful about the wording
- The original resolution was to fund stakeholders
- The association, senate unallocated will fund a good amount of this
- Details remain unclear

Luken
- That's what i said

Lala

A Resolution To Enact Standing Policy 43
Than - Jiang

Zha

- I'm here speaking to you as a student, not as a parliamentarian. The president made a couple of points that I want to discuss, but first I need to remind everyone that there are a couple of JC cases pending against the last Senate, one of the petitioners is sitting here now. If the Senate applied any special process to a chair, that was an abuse of membership; if the Senate creates a policy that is applied equally to everyone, that is acceptable, and those are our only options. Chairs of BCUs control tens of thousands of dollars in student fees, so it's up to us to decide whether we just "trust the process." I believe that trust in the process needs to change. While the president has great trust, we should both trust each other and do our own due diligence.
- Regarding the claim that the proposed policies would burden BCU chairs: that simply isn't true. Take the Asian Committee as an example, you can't reasonably be upset about this requirement. I have worked with their chairs and spend five to ten hours with them each week; this is not a new burden. The president mentioned an existing procedure, but there is none. Right now, chairs aren't even allowed to present arguments on their own behalf; everything happens in closed session, which is not right. People deserve the chance to answer arguments made against them and to respond directly. We need a level playing field with clear expectations of what the process will look like and a real opportunity for chairs to participate.

- On the IVP point, some worry that the IVP could pick which BCUs go in front of the Senate. That fear is unfounded, the IVP cannot do that. Instead of a Liaison Committee hearing, the matter would simply go to the full Senate, so there's no discretionary loophole. In this association, we're paid to run things properly and make a difference for students. We won't be doing our jobs if we don't adopt a "trust but verify" approach and carry out our own due diligence.

Claro

- Thank you for coming. I just have one question, and it's related to this policy. You mentioned that this policy is being brought forward in response to some past cases. I'm curious, one of the individuals involved was charged with a violation of privacy rights. You also mentioned that there was a missing framework. Could you clarify how this policy addresses that missing framework and whether it would have prevented that specific issue?

Zha

- Those are just my personal thoughts on it. In the absence of a clear framework, what often happens is that senators, either individually or collectively take it upon themselves to introduce additional steps. For example, let's say I'm being appointed as a chair of a BCU, and instead of following the standard process, the Senate asks me to come in and answer additional questions. That added layer of deliberation between the Senate and a BCU chair,when it's not applied consistently or isn't outlined in policy, could be seen as overstepping, or even as a violation of fair process or equal treatment. Would you consider that a procedural violation?

- I know this topic is under heated debate, but regardless of what happens here tonight, this will ultimately go to the Liaison Committee. When it comes to the appointment process, the legal code states that the Committee on Committees should have an interview structure, while BCUs have the option to opt out. However, even in that case, the chairs are supposed to fill out an appointment application that the Senate can review, and I haven't seen that.
- I'd definitely be open to reaching out to BCUs myself. An alternative approach could be that the Liaison Committee, those 6 or 7 people, allocates time specifically to form relationships with BCUs. I'm more than happy to do that. I see it as part of my duty.
- But we cannot be asked to make decisions about funding or oversight without understanding the interview process and how chairs are being selected. For the sake of the student population, I ask any current BCU chairs to be open to the establishment of a new process that prioritizes transparency and consistency.

- They've brought this resolution to our attention with good reason, to highlight the potential bureaucratic burden we may be imposing. But if the person has already been appointed and all the relevant information has been sent out, all we're really asking for is access to that information. The whole purpose of this policy is to standardize the process and make it transparent and accessible to all branches of AS
- We've seen from recent JC cases just how important it is to ensure we're protecting everyone involved. This policy wasn't created out of a desire for control or authority, it comes from a genuine intention to safeguard the rights of all parties and to ensure a fair, consistent process moving forward.

Luken
- Point of information, I'm hearing this will be led to liaison
- Will liaison meet this summer? Or would it meet that they would meet over fall

Lala
- All committees are expected to meet in summer
- If you are so passionate about this, you can meet all summer
- You can discuss it first meeting and then next senate meeting of summer you can bring it back
- Any changes made in liaison can only be reverted on senate floor

Claro
- I think this is a good policy
- There was framework that was established but didn't have precedent
- This would set up precedent that JC can rely on and apply
- I didn't see that in past judgements

Jiang
- Procedures will make chairs more aware of responsibilities
- Make them make sure they know
- Not just something that they internally decide and throw a simple process

Luken
- Are we voting to pass this?

Lala
- We motion to table it
- You can't vote the same day it is introduced
- You have to discharge

Sussman
- I really like this bill
- Not about control, about communicating and open relationships with BCUs
- If we need to meet halfway and change the bill language that can be done

- Huge advocate of this bill

Zha
- The correct motion language would be defer to

Than

- Do we know that if liaison works over the summer would BCUs respond

Lala
- It is up to them

Ly
- I had a lengthy discussion about this, and while I do understand the necessity of this standing policy, the way I'm approaching Liaison is with a focus on transparency and collaboration with BCUs. I believe having input from BCUs is incredibly important, we don't want to be a body that simply imposes policies on them without their involvement
- Getting that input and making sure the process is clear and apparent to everyone is essential. I do believe this policy is necessary, but my biggest priority is ensuring that BCUs have a seat at the table. As someone on the Human Rights Board, I especially believe that getting BCU input is not just important, it's fundamental to doing this the right way.

Jiang
- Their director has expressed concerns about this policy, and we had a really fluid and constructive conversation. From what I gathered, their worry isn't about the procedure itself, but more about the timing and how it's being implemented
- We explained that we're postponing the policy, which I think is a positive example of how we intend to approach BCUs, with openness, flexibility, and respect. It's important that we communicate clearly that this process isn't about asserting power or control. It's about providing a transparent and consistent confirmation process that benefits everyone involved
- We need to make our intentions clear, this is not meant to be a burden. In fact, I believe most BCUs will ultimately be supportive of the policy once the details are made more transparent. Right now, their concerns stem from uncertainty—just not knowing how everything will work. So it's on us to provide clarity, involve them in the conversation, and ensure they feel informed and supported throughout the process.

A Resolution In Support of the FARO Center's Continued Work
Jones - Sherkin

Jones
- Yes. So this resolution expressed AS's strong support for the FARO center, a public private partnership that has provided essential services to those experiencing homelessness in Santa Barbara, including mental health support, job training and document readiness and more. Despite its positive impact, our center now faces threats to its operation due to neighborhood complaints and recent city directives. So this resolution urges city stakeholders to find a solution that allows the Faro center to continue its vital work while balancing community concerns. And this resolution just reaffirms assoc commitment to housing justice and the role that UCSB students can play in regional efforts to address homelessness. So I hope you guys will join in supporting

- This act, it's a way that we can holistically support other means of housing for students. One might suggest that this is a bit of an indirect way to support students facing housing security. However, 8% of students are facing housing insecurity, which is roughly about 22,800 students across the state. By supporting this act, we can add an additional course that supports the creation of high insecurity for the center, or moving to another center altogether.
- So it's just another way we can support students who are facing housing insecurity

Lala

- Yields chairship to Sussman

Lala

- So I could speak on this as a student sponsor chair. So, just to give a little bit more background, the FARO center, as the first and second eloquently provided, offer extremely crucial services to those facing homelessness in Santa Barbara. So it's what's called the wraparound services that you go into one area and you get all of your needs dealt with. And it's something that didn't quite exist before it came into fruition, and now it faces shut down, essentially, of a really crucial service.
- And I think we can all understand the importance of that, but I'd like to deal with the more philosophical question of what kinds of issues we should be involved in, because there's long been an argument that many find convincing that we, you know, we should clean up our house first and deal with internal issues and those on campus before we get involved in other things. But I just like to make the case this is exactly the kind of thing that the association and that we as students and student leaders should be involved in.
- So the more we're involved with local stakeholders like the mayor and nonprofits in Santa Barbara, the better our own work can be, and the more fulfilled we can be out of our four years at this university. So this would allow us to be in close communication with the Mayor's office, with City Hall, with SB Act, which is one of the most important nonprofits in the area.
- And I think it's a step in the right direction for the association to establish itself as a respected contributor to local life. Thank you.

Sussman

Ly

- Do we have to refer discharge and then vote any resolution>

Malhis
- I'm confused how come we haven't supported them before?

Lala
- In the past?

Malhis
- Were we not in support of their work in the past?

Lala
- If I say you're a good writer today it doesn't mean that you were never a good writer in the past

Hepburn
- The FARO center had never experienced being shut down
- It was explicit that they were doing a good job
- It’s being questioned therefore we have the responsibility to reaffirm it

Jones
- It's only been open for a year
- In the year it's been open its helped 961 individuals
- 53 having access interim housing
- 12 secured permanent housing
- Now they are up and running

Lala
- There is precedent. In the last year of the Senate, I think there was a resolution in support of, as executives push to renegotiate with the dining hall, something about, I think, conditions, labor, conditions and students ability to have rollovers.
- So I think the continued work that the first and second brought that choice of wording means.

Malhis
- Are you planning on having a project to work with them

Jones
- This is to express, like support and if you open the door so that we work with them in the future, especially for students that are just facing housing insecurity in general. But we're also urging the city of Santa, Barbara and SB act and all relevant stakeholders to actually come to a prompt legal arrangement, either enforcing heightened security at the present location, or securing a move to a better suited area of the city, which ensures their continued work.

Harden

- For purposes of clarity and i do imagine our support publicized to greater audience
- We do recognize that some of the issues that have been raised are valid. There have been some legitimate issues with the Faro center that have been raised and have led to the questioning of their continued operations. However, the resolution is very clear that we support their continued operations, and we support their ability to resolve these issues. It's not just that we don't validate these issues. We do think the issues are legitimate, and the FARO center is making an attempt to resolve them very legitimately and in continuous work. So that should be put on the record as it is here, but reaffirm once

A Bill to Amend the Human Rights Board Legal Code
Jones - Wahidullah

Jones

- This bill just updates the structure, and the roles and responsibilities of the Human Rights board to better reflect its current practices and missions.
- The key amendments include updating the position titles and duties for clarity and functionality, clarify the voting membership, and remove sections E2 and E3 that calls for foregiet and removal of voting rights and membership based on attendance, refined job descriptions, codified event and collaboration expectations, revised appointments and removal processes, and affirms the board's autonomy, and lastly, outlined internal bylaw procedures. This will help HRB make their appointments for the board next year.

Wahidullah

- I just want to say something similar to Senator Jones. After having discussions with HRB, these changes will overall lead the club to progress their goals better, and drive autonomy in the HRB future. These will help promote inclusive rights, while connecting to legal code better and overall refining the structure of the HRB.

Lala

- I think it is worth noting that I want to commend the first and second for being responsive to standing rules. If you read standing rules of the office of the senate leadership, both the Vice President and Pro Temps reserve the right to refer any legislation that they might be concerned by or that contravene legal code, or have any other you know, issues like my contravenes policies that are even beyond the association level, or the office the attorney general. There was no attorney general in place when this was first motioned to be added onto the agenda, but they dealt with it really promptly and really thoroughly. I want to commend both of you, and I don't just put that on everyone's notice that that's the process that we're taking up this year to make sure that there's no, there's no legislation that we have to revisit later and be like, Oh my God, this contradicts the legal code.

Luken

- I also want to say thank you to the first and second regards, having a great bill that has footnotes citing the whereas clauses and explaining the exigence for the bill. So thank you, and I hope that we as a senate continue that precedent.

I-3) Unit Reports [Speaking time not to exceed 10 minutes] -

Attorney General Iden 8:30pm
- Thank you guys. I have a couple things to address, one which is the winter quarter honoraria which I think was already discussed. So good evening everyone. Thank you all for having me. I'd like to begin by introducing myself once more. My name is Taylor Iden, I was recently appointed to the position of Attorney General, and then confirmed by you all last week
- So just a little bit about myself. I'm a fourth year economics major who miscalculated his units, so unfortunately, for the time being, you're all stuck with me. I appreciate you guys being patient with me as I adjust to this new role as only recently, I was sitting in the same seats as you all are now, and I understand the anxiety around it, so don't be afraid to ask questions and make mistakes.
- So just as for my role as the attorney general, I'm charged with investigating and prosecuting legal code violations, as well as well as giving advice on legal build bond request, I'd like to extend myself as a resource to all, and I recommend anyone reach out to me if you have any questions regarding legal code, my experience to the senator or the broader Association.

- At a later date, I'm going to speak with you all regarding the goals I have from our office, but this time, I just have some matters I need to discuss. Feel so hope this doesn't turn into a weird, long winded speech. So I appreciate it if everyone gives me their full attention. I'll be discussing winter quarter hour conflict of interest, the recent JC verdict, and then some matters concerning the senate meeting last Wednesday. So to begin with honoraria, the previous honorary committee from the 75th Senate made what appears to be some administrative errors that have led to a kind of unique situation with you guys handling it. With respect to this one reporter itself, after discussions with the IVP and some professional staff, we agreed that there needed to be a thorough review of honoraria again, that was possible and reporter and so for those of you who are here that don't know, typically, honoraria committee is tasked with conducting a detailed review of each individual's request for honoraria, and this essentially includes evaluating submitted reports, ton structure for minutes, the quality of work performed during or during the border.
- And so based on these factors, the committee might approve, adjust or deny any amount of honoraria for each position. And then these recommendations are then forwarded to the Senate for final approval, and it passed the honoraria process and then dispersed by ASAP. And so this process is in place to ensure accountability, that student funds are distributed equitably and also important with the legal obligation speech role.
- So for what I've seen from the May 20 honorary committee meeting minutes and the following package that my Senate passed two weeks ago, the committee appears to have potentially mass approved all honorary requests without any documentation of review, deliberation or adjustments based on attendance, engagements or performance.
- All requests, from what I've seen, simply appear to have just been accepted in full or adjusted to the role with potentially some other minor adjustments. So rubber stamping the honoraria without any adjustments for tenants is administrative negligence in the breach of committee's fiduciary and procedural duties. Honoraria is paid from student fees and improper distribution. Raises a few concerns. Primarily, there's equity issues in which some might receive honorary they did not earn, while others that perform at or above the legal obligations of their roles and are going to receive no additional compensation.
- And along with this, just citing the Constitution, the Student Bill of Rights, it states all students shall have the right to responsible allocation of student fees by Associated Students. So if I potentially would like to conduct an actual review, they may have violated this article, obligating my office to recommend another review, which I believe has already been created and is still going under further review, which is great so that I think the younger communities are hard work.
- They feel a lot of long hours these past couple weeks. I don't think anyone really wanted to do it. So like, you guys are championing it, but I really just can't stress the importance of doing proper review enough like this quarter and every quarter, it's important that all the 70% Senate might have passed this honoraria it's unclear. I can say, as a former senator, I don't think everyone's really fully aware of what happened with the previous honoraria committee and the potential procedural failings. But I just want to outline all this to ensure that the process of giving the attention it deserves for every future reporter. And if there's any questions on this matter, please don't be afraid to ask.

- And so Secondly, I'm just going to briefly discuss conflict officially because I think you're all kind of experimenting with what that meant last meeting, and what that means to actually implement it. So the question is, what is it and how should it be implemented in your meetings, and it's basically divided into our legal code as a personal financial gain or a personal gain of associates.
- I recommend everyone here read policy 15, which discusses this. Furthermore, in 1974 the California Political Reform Act was passed which states no public officials shall make, participate in making or in any way attempt to use their official position to influence a governmental decision in which they know or have reason, no they have a financial interest.
- so this financial interest is defined explicitly as any investment worth $2,000 or more, employment income of $500 or more in receipt gifts worth 520 or more, among a few varieties of others. So the big one is the employment income, $500 which is a personal gain of finances.
- So that means if you a close friend or someone you might have a financial or personal interest with, stands to benefit from a decision made by the Senate or other committees you're a part of you might be in a conflict of interest. And so this includes funding, allocations, appointments, any other discipline, disciplinary actions involving those close to you, with respect to financial some being involved. And so if you're ever questioning your impartiality regarding a vote, there might be a conflict that you should slowly and procedurally evaluate amongst each other. It also never works to recuse yourself, to just remain impartial, and so for our legislator and other committees to maintain themselves as fair, equitable, non-partisan bodies, I just ask you all to think twice before voting on matters in which you can't expel your conflict of interest. Again, that's the financial gain of one's associates.
- If a member of a committee came to you for a funny request or for an event project, you have every right to vote on it unless they themselves are an associate of yours or receiving some direct financial benefit. So it's a variable note. It's like, it's imperative to note that the financial benefit to a committee such as putting on an event is very different from a financial benefit to oneself. So if someone's getting reimbursed for funding, or they're gaining something from hosting that event. So you just need to evaluate that very slowly. It's not going to be like if you have a Friday night committee you need to approve their minutes. That's not something you really need to worry about. It's more if you have funding requests coming to you guys individually, because I see minutes as a procedural thing that the body has to do as the body and usually they get approved events, you'll see some minor things that you need to fix. But you'll kind of encounter it as it goes.

And I'll be here as a resource, and hopefully we get another parliamentarian they can as well. If you don't feel confident, just refrain from voting. It's a really complicated matter. I'll speak at it again in greater length, coming Fall quarter, but in the time being, I invite you guys all to fill out the conflict of interest form on the OAG website. That's oag.as dot UCSB

- And just lastly, like I recommend utilizing extensions over matters you don't really feel confident voting on. I utilize that numerous times throughout my term as a senator. It doesn't mean you are for or against or in any way about legislation. If you don't feel confident, just don't vote. That's totally fine. That's totally fine. That's your right as a senator. And then next, I wanted to speak briefly just about what occurred last meeting when I was when I came to speak about the verdict for the judicial council for 005, this is not coming from any personal motive or reason. I just wanted to outline my thoughts for the Senate. So during that meeting, I was appointed as Attorney General. Thank you for all the positions I feel confident in tackling, but still very new to and figuring out. And again, it's a similar feeling. I think everyone is feeling right now. It's very intimidating being in this room and trying to discuss amongst one another. You know, we're all like from our mid 20s, still figuring a lot of stuff out.
- But anyways, at a point of the meeting, as you all know, some senators felt that they could use further guidance from the four from the former Attorney General, Eric Carlson, with respect to the Judicial Council ruling, I personally had no issue with this, and I felt it would be appropriate, given he has had a year of experience in this role, and is the same individual who prosecuted the case.
- I bear no weight on the decision to not invite him to the table. I simply just wanted to come here and outline to the Senate the paths you have available to all. Should you disagree with them
- So during the session, Senator Luken and moved to appeal the chair's decision to not invite former agent before which was then seconded when this happened, discussion continued to ensue until a recess was fall.
- My reason, if we're discussing this, with you all, is to reinforce the body that appealing a chair's decision is your right, as outlined in Robert's Rules of Order. Procedurally, you should have been given a brief moment of discussion in which the chair will state his case, and then all members of the body are invited to speak for what they believe. And then you should just go into a vote. But despite it being it's outlined in your standing policies that the chair can move into a recess at any point in their choosing, I personally find it fine to meet and deliberate at any point during a meeting, but I would recommend reviewing that standing policy, because it ended up with a couple members in like the hallway discussing the matter, and everyone else was kind of excluded, which is fine.
- It's fine to deliberate, but for certain motions, I just personally recommend including everyone on the table, on the floor, so and again, I just recommend everyone read Robert’s words. It's really going to help guide your deliberations and all the avenues available to you. The chair is here to guide you all. I have a lot of faith in the internal vice president, but you just have to understand that you have every right to disagree with the chair. You've every right to disagree with one another and you should just welcome disagreement with open arms. It's what leads to more fruitful discussion. You want all voices included. That's just my personal belief.

- And so lastly, this is the one I hope you guys actually really pay attention to, is the JC verdict. So I've been requested to give you guys all advice once again, in regards to the case 005 I'd like to state that I do not speak Okay.
- I don't speak for the judicial council. This is my own advice as Attorney General, my own interpretation of the ruling and how you should proceed. Just to reiterate the verdict, it states that the Judicial Council directs the Senate to reopen the minutes for March 5, 2025, and add a motion to accept Jackson as co-chair of student commission on racial equity. I believe there was a lot of confusion last time regarding this, because I think a lot of it stems from the Senate from a previous term. Do we have the right to open our minutes? And generally, I would not recommend going back to previous year sentences and making any decisions. However, due to the judicial Council's verdict and directive, I find it totally warranted and appropriate, the Senate maintains the right to make legislative decisions in many aspects of the association, like, for example, you have the right to go into any BCU minutes for the most part, amend them, and you'll likely do that numerous times this year when you find errors. But so this instance, regarding the March 5 meeting in particular, shouldn't be any different.
- In practicality, the amendments need to be done in this meeting just to ensure compliance. And so just to begin my actual recommendation, I would advise you all to strike the motion to table, Miss Jackson's appointment indefinitely from the 305, meeting minutes and agenda.
- Following this, add a motion to accept Kamaya Jackson no chair student commission on racial equity. You don't have to worry about whose name is on that. I think that was another condition last time. It's simply the same as adding a text into your agenda. You could, if you'd like, you could. She agreed exactly as I told you, that's the one thing. It needs to be in line with the directive.
- But if you're confused, you could just add, like, an addendum that says 76 that because it's the whole body agreeing to follow them. And so after this, in your own meeting minutes, I recommend a motion to retroactively group Kamaya Jackson as co chair. And so this essentially appoints Miss Jackson for the whole previous term. And if she wishes to serve this upcoming term, they'll have to follow the standard procedure in which the President appoints them and is then confirmed by the Senate.
- And then lastly, there's just one procedural error I'd like you best to fix in that, which is it states in the minutes that the Senate exited closed session at 2:57am or, sorry, it says 3:57am that needs to be amended to be an hour before, which is when JC has estimated that they actually ended. So just edit about that by an hour, and then you can reapprove the minutes at this meeting. Any questions?

Lala

- Two quick things. The first thing is, somebody please correct me if I'm wrong. I believe I am, though we went into the march 5 meeting and we did strike the indefinite table.

Iden

- Yeah, that. Sorry that actually you did strike it. So I thought I was giving my at this point, then you just need to retroactively in your agenda, just to give you guys constantly important

Lala

- So that part is taken care of that is separate from the Attorney General's recommendation that directly whatever you're involved in that we retroactively appointments kind of, kind of remedy. What JC rule was, was the adjustment of it not having been approved in the 75th Senate. So those are two separate things. Any other questions?

Sherkin

- So the first action, the strikethrough, we did that last meeting, the next agenda items that we also have to take care of, that

Luken

- Can I request we ask for thumbs up or confirmation from any JC members that we appropriately executed their decision

Lala

- Would you like to give a brief comment>

Jc council member

- The one clarification I want to make is there was never a motion permanently tabled Maya Jackson's appointment on the three five minutes. So last week, y'all struck an emotion that did not exist. So how you want to address that is up to you, or if you want to, but I do want to make you aware of that.

Iden

- I would just argue that if it was on the agenda, if the minutes were not being taken, it essentially could have been on the minutes just ranking it essentially adds it it takes about

Lala

- Seems like the least problematic
- Leaves as is

Iden

- I'd say so

CAB Spring25 Quarter Report

I-4) President's Cabinet Report-

- Hi
- Hi everyone. I hope you don't mind me taking a moment to speak. I just wanted to share a few concerns regarding Policy 43 and the proposed changes to the chair appointment model, which I hope you'll take into consideration as you deliberate.
- To give a bit of background, I'm speaking as both a former BCU chair and as a past AS President, roles that were closely tied to the chair alignment process.
- To put it plainly, I find the proposed Liaison Committee BCU chair hearings to be unnecessary. Each BCU's legal code outlines a process for selecting new chairs. Typically, this involves an application, interview, and internal vote. The BCU chair nomination is then sent to the AS President, who reviews the nominee's qualifications, the nomination process, and intentions for the role. If approved, the Senate confirms the appointment.
- So, chairs are already reviewed twicet, before reaching the Senate floor. These are not random people being appointed; they've been vetted through structured internal and executive processes. Adding another layer of bureaucracy, such as a Liaison Committee hearing, only burdens both committee members and BCU chairs, taking away time from their core responsibilities.
- Now, I understand the intent behind this policy. The previous Senate engaged in unfair practices, targeting certain chair appointments while letting others slide and you want to fix that by standardizing the process. But as I've just described, the process was already standardized. The problem wasn't a lack of process, it was a failure to follow the process. If we want to prevent unfair treatment, we should simply adhere to the standards that are already in place.
- Furthermore, the new policy does not fully guard against bias. For example, the IVP can still request a full Senate hearing instead of a Liaison Committee review, and the policy can be suspended at will especially near the end of the year when dozens of new chairs need to be appointed quickly. In fact, when I asked how the committee would handle mass chair appointments at the end of spring quarter, I was told the policy could be suspended to push all approvals through. But then how is it fair that some chairs are subject to hearings and others aren't, just based on timing?
- Another justification I've heard for the policy is that it allows BCU chairs to build relationships with the Liaison Committee early on. While I absolutely agree that collaboration between BCUs and the Senate is important, I don't believe this is the right way to go about it. Speaking from experience, I would've had a much better relationship with the Senate if I had a sit-down conversation about my goals, projects, and concerns, rather than being interviewed by up to five Senators in a public hearing. I think many BCU chairs would agree.
- If the Liaison Committee genuinely wants to build stronger relationships, I'd recommend reaching out to chairs, attending BCU meetings, and working with becoming-young committees to plan more effective and better-attended chair meetings. That's what will actually strengthen BCU-Senate relations.

- Of course, this is just my opinion. I'm only one person. Before moving forward with this resolution, I strongly urge the Liaison Committee to gather more input from current BCU chairs. One of the Senate's consistent missteps in past years has been introducing legislation that directly affects BCUs—without involving them in the conversation.
- So I say this not just about Policy 43, but about all future legislation: Please consult relevant BCU leaders before bringing anything to the floor. Give them time to review and provide feedback. Don't leave them in the dark.
- This year, you have the opportunity to build a Senate that collaborates—not condescends. That includes all parts of the Association, especially BCUs. Because we won't get anything done unless we work together.
- Thank you for listening.

Luken
- Thank you bring up good points
- Could you provide example of the senate interacting with BCUs before passing a bill

Metzer
- Changes to chair apt was sent 7 hours before senate meeting, chairs had strong feelings but didn't have time to make their voices heard
- That conversation should be had before being brought to senate
- Another instance last year there was legislation brought to combine some of environmental BCU and that was brought to senate meeting

Zha
- Just for information purposes only
- There was never a legislation to combine the environment BCUs
- The idea was proposed two years ago but there was no legislation

Metzer
- I do not know for sure i just remember the angry AS emails

Jiang
- Could you explain how to ensure these procedures are standardized within all BCUs

Metzer
- The president is supposed to take statement of intent from all BCU chairs
- Supposed to include what qualifies them, what they intend to do as a chair, it's the president's job to review and then follow up

Wahidullah
- Do you have any personal experience of collaborating with BCUs
- What would you recommend?

Metzer

- From COSWB, when there was liaison to BCUs we were fortunate we had 2 years of liaison who came to our meetings regularly
- We had close relationships with advocacy
- Thats been constructive
- My time being liaison as BCU rep, BCU chairs who had interactions with liaison found it to be constructive as they were able to come and work on the projects

Ly

- Thank you so much for giving your perspective. Just to clarify the standing rules for the Senate, it's we just bring the legislation up, but it will be tabled to the committee that will apply to so this setting policy 43 won't be immediately enacted, but it'll be tabled to please the committee first for further discussion. And I thought of the same concerns that you've shared already, so we will be working closely with the BCU and other members of our committee so they further work on having a committee process approved and having input from PCs president.

I-5) Executive Director's Report-
7:15pm
Sean Lieberman

- Marisela report, she couldnt be here
- Hoping pardall center lease comes through, waiting on signatures
- Your relationship to BCU is gonna be what it is .
- My advice is to see them as parts of the organization, and don't see yourselves as their supervisors or parents, because it's really easy to fall into that hole while you do need to hold them accountable to legal code and make sure that those things are being divided by that's kind of the extent of it, really how I viewed it.
- The relationship between the Senate and BCU us is also that no offense to the Senate, but the BCU use is the positive kind of outlet that's out there. If there're some people who see it as not as dramatic, and they're doing the work found in the field, take advantage of that.
- And also, this isn't anything related to the bill, but the less you have to do related to supervision or guaranteeing that the BCU use, the more time you have for other projects, too. Because even just reading the bills that are on your new business or old business, it's a lot of work, and how many people are doing that before you get to the seat, right?
- So time is of the essence. And so if you can, this is something I've learned through leadership in the last three months. If you can do something to create more time for yourself, do it as long as it's legal and ethical and make sense, like, go for it. And also, related to BCU relationships, another group might be coming to establish themselves as a BCU. So I would like this audience to think about how that happens, and we've discussed it a little bit in the previous Senate, but the way it happens now is not optimal, because where's their budget coming from? Who is their advisor? How does it work? Like do they have to focus on more than just one person who's really energetic about it? Do they are they going to have a board like, for the first two quarters, right? So, like, think about all those different things.

- If someone comes to want to establish a fly, a room, this space work starts Friday. So we'll have an owl up here. We'll have a microphone array myself there, and we'll actually be able to stream properly and not have to bring a kit and do all that kind of stuff. So that'll be in place for their next floor. And related to space, the main office, the center office, other spaces within as for looking at how we can best utilize them, where we're talking with the new president about all that as well.
- Marisela's retirement celebration is next Wednesday, at six and El Centro, if people can stop by. I heard people mentioning email accounts. All of you have senate email accounts. If you have not received the login information for them yet, talk to Oscar. He was out sick yesterday, but found him on the tech help site to tune in so we meet everyone on the same thing.
- I highly recommend segmenting things so that you have all your AS stuff. Go to your account and everything else. Go to your Gmail and your UCSB accounts. Separation is good for a variety of reasons
- And then the last thing is just some financial changes that we're going to put into place. This is more for the finance committee, but they're on meetings, so I have to talk to you instead. Is going to have revised rules about any requests that generate inventory, so don't need another shed. Advisors will have to sign for travel related requisitions, and there might be additional things in place for purchase over certain amounts. So this is to ensure that we abide by UC policy, because a lot of things have come up in the past two quarters, and we want to make sure that we're in the same place. That's all an

- Thank you for coming here. Over the past few weeks, we've been hearing a few things from our current administration about like international students, especially from Harvard students that were getting revoked. So I was just wondering, because they are power constituents as the Senate is, are there any updates when it comes to that and like, protections for international or undocumented students with our current administration, like, what's the UCS doing with that currently, right now?

Sean

- I'll follow up on that
- There's been a lot of chatter ofc

Hepburn

- can you talk about international travel

Sean

- Liability wise Finance Committee never should have approved any international power. And so we would be stepping in to say no going forward. So that's, that's the deal is that it should be a finance committee. The ability to do that is at the Vice Chancellor level, and so it's a super exception to be able to improve international travel for anyone, students, staff, faculty, whatever.
- So this is a policy we need to put into place to prevent it from happening just because it's not explicitly written international policies and procedures necessarily. Maybe it is much but it is one of those things that needs to be

- Are you trying to kill international travel completely

Sean

- Whatever it is, it's going to be an extreme exception. It's going to be it's not about it's about liability. It's essentially, it's about insurance, and it has so because we sent some students to Copenhagen, I think 10-15, years ago, like that, or an environmental office who was chosen to go with very complicated things.
- And I think at the very end of it, we weren't even allowed to pay for the travel. So it's just too much that went into it, and then we had to put it up that probably went to the chancellor, honestly. There's too much liability and too many risks when you do that and you don't have the ability to travel.

Malhis

- Are you saying the finance committee cannot grant exceptions?

Sean

- Yes

Malhis

- Let's say we are pushing forward any international travel they have to put approval from administration and then they receive funding

Sean

- Right now it's a pause

mALHIS

- I think we funded 3 international trips
- One for paris
- One for europe
- One RCO for charity or something medical in latin america

Vincent

- I work on contract bases for finance operation s
- I think the point the senator Malhis makes
- Those approvals cannot happen

- It's not something that senate should say wow we did this in the past
- Not to say we are not looking at itn

Sean
- Pause until further

Jiang
- What happened to the ones we already funded

Sean
- They already went

Lala
- Those who have been approved but haven't left, what happens then?

Sean
- Have been approved by an entity who doesn't have the power to do so

Lala
- That group might have to cancel their trip?

Sean
- Might not come to that but

76th AS UCSB Senate Executive Committee – Task Force to Restructure Senate Meetings

Isla Vista Arts Student Board Request

Sussman

- They are requesting we release all their funds because of inflation and increasing prices and they can't finish everything they were planning this quarter

Lala

- Shaun, what does this mean?

Shaun Lieberman

- Sounds like they are asking for rollover money. That is the way I interpreted it. Finance committee now holds that money in an account that will go to IV arts. That's how i read it

Lala

- I was in 75th and I'm lost on this. Maybe you can help on this one. This is the same entity that we are voting on requesting the chancellor dissolve theri lock in fee, and they are requesting a release of funds. And you're interpreting that to go to who and to do what?

Shaun Lieberman

- I believe it was their faculty advisor that requested via email so this is the official method to request funds back. There is 104k of rollover that the group hasn't used because they didn't go through our processes. They didn't need the money from the previous year so they swept that rollover money away a few weeks ago. Unless someone were to undo that, it's sitting in a designated finance committee unallocated account.

Lala

- So we are requesting that the lock in fee is dissolved because they get their funding from elsewhere? Is that correct? Where do they get their funding from?

Shaun Lieberman

- They passed last year a campus elections commission for almost the same amount as ours; they don't have to go through Associated Students. They don't have to have a student board, go through our finances, they just get the money directly to that department. They have had money in there for 2 years that they didn't use because they were trying to fix or undo things. So that money got swept 2 weeks ago by the previous senate that has to and needs to be used in the same way.

Lala

- This money that they've had sitting in there, is the money from Associated Students or the external source?

Shaun Lieberman

- Associated students

Zha

- Will the chair let me speak as a member of the finance committee?

Lala

- Yes

Zha

- There have been issues with IV arts since the 74th Senate. The problem was the advisor didn't listen to students. They want to spend it like school funding, and the conversations they had, they didn't like so they went out to create another thing escaping student oversight. The lock in fee allows the finance committee to ensure the funds will be used for good events. The bottom line is the student fee has to be used for student involvement. IV arts has proven not to listen to student advice. I recommend that the senate reject it. I yield.

Lala
- Do we think that's proper context?

Sherkin
- Preface this by saying I'm new to this. How do we know they are not listening to student voices?

Zha
- Can reach out to former members and any senator in the 74th will tell you the same story. It was a very prevalent matter back then.

Harter
- The letter is signed off by 3 people who identify themselves who as members of isla vista art student advisory board

Marissa
- They have their own advisory board but don't want to do it through Associated Students mechanisms. They have had challenges with getting students on the board to pass things. The frustration is bureaucracy of Associated Students processes, not student involvement.

Luken
- I'd like to request we move past this and don't take any action on discussion items. I ask the chair.

Lala
- This was requested pretty explicitly by the advisor to vote on this today. That word is not binding and this is a discussion item. It's the senate's decision.

This motion passed at 10:43PM

Harter
- If we don't grant this, what will happen to them? Do they have funding? Are they not going to continue for the summer? We have summer residents and they are performing a service to students.

Lala

- They have plenty of funding that they got from Associated Students, and they have an external funding structure through campus election commission because they didn't like student participation with Associated Students. They are requesting more funding that we swept into the rollover fund for other activities in the association. They want that too.

Shaun

- They can also just request funds from the finance committee. They can come ask for that money. We don't have to give it to them directly.
- They can come ask for that
- We don't have to give it to them directly

Ly

- They wanted a vote. Should we vote to reject that so it's on the agenda?

Lala

- We need an rescinded objection fist

Ly

- Since they wanted you to vote on it, should we not make a motion to reject the request so there is an official vote?

Lala

- That's honorable, but this is simplest route
